All ballot labels shall be printed in black ink on clear white material or amendments, propositions and questions may be printed on red tinted material and the names of candidates for nonpartisan offices on blue tinted material of such size as will fit the ballot frame and in plain type as the space will reasonably permit. (The name of each candidate for nomination to any office by a political party shall be placed upon the party row of such party to which shall be prefixed the name and vignette of such party.) The names of candidates for office to be voted for at such election shall be placed upon such machines in the same order that the names of candidates for office are now required to be placed upon printed ballots by the general election law. Where candidates for local offices in any city, village or township are to be voted for at the same election with state or county candidates, the names of the candidates for such offices shall be placed last upon such voting machines, following the names of candiates for state, county and other offices to be voted for at such election, and the name of the local unit shall be prominently printed on the ballot to indicate the portion of the ballot on which the names of the local candidates appear. The order in which the names of such candidates for local offices shall be placed upon such machines shall be prescribed by the board of election commissioners of the city, village or township, as the case may be. Where amendments to the constitution or other questions are to be voted on, such amendments or questions shall be placed on the voting machine upon the portion of the keyboard provided therefor or upon any other available space when deemed advisable by the board of election commissioners of the county, city, village or township. In city and village elections where any special question is to be voted on, a condensed statement of such question not to exceed 100 words may be placed upon the voting machine in lieu of a verbatim statement of such question. Such condensed statement shall be in such form as to apprise the voter of the exact question to be voted on. Said provision may also apply to amendments, provided that verbatim statements thereof shall in such cases be placed conspicuously within the machine booth so that each voter may, if he desires, read the entire context of such amendments; such condensed statements shall be written under the direction of the proper legal authority in the state, county, city, village or township, as the case may be. Two or more independent nominations may be placed on the same party row and such candidates shall be voted for individually. The party lever or device, if any, in connection with such party row, shall be locked whenever such party row does not contain the names of candidates of a party organization or the names of an independent body which may have nominated candidates for more than 1 office. The vignettes adopted for such independent candidates, if any, shall be printed upon the ballot labels in connection with the names of such candidates. Where voting machines are purchased or are used, the election commissioners of the county, city, village or township shall not be required to print and furnish paper ballots for election districts using voting machines, except for any question or matter that cannot be provided for by the voting machines. The board of election commissioners of the county shall cause to be printed ballot labels or slips containing the names of candidates for all offices to be voted for or questions to be voted upon, except when the city, village or township officials only are to be elected, at which time the city, village or township clerk shall provide such ballot labels for use upon such voting machines, and shall forward the same to the board of election commissioners of each city, village or township within the

Said clerk or his authorized assistants shall cause the machines to be properly labeled, put in order, set and arranged. In preparing a voting machine for an election, the clerk or his authorized assistants shall arrange the machine and the ballots therefor so that it will in every particular meet the requirements for voting and counting at such election, and thoroughly test and seal or lock the same. Before opening the machine, at least 2 of the officers present shall examine the number of the seal on the machine, also the number registered on the protective counter, if one is provided, and shall see if they are the same as recorded on the envelope containing the keys or on the statement of returns. If any counter for a candidate or question is found not to register zero, the inspectors of election shall immediately notify the county, city or township clerk, under whose direction such machine has been prepared for election, and said clerk or the assistant appointed by him shall adjust the counter at zero, re-examine the machine and certify to its proper adjustment for use in the election. During the examination of the voting machine by the inspectors of election, the machine shall remain locked against voting until the polls are formally opened, and shall not be operated except by the electors in voting, or by the inspectors in recording absent voters' ballots.

Immediately after the canvass has been completed, the results, stating the total number of votes received by each person voted for in said precinct for any office and the number of votes for and the number of votes against any proposed constitutional amendment or other submitted proposition, shall be made available to interested persons who may be present. In any case, the seals shall be broken and machines released not less than 20 days preceding an election at which such machines are to be used. In city, village and township elections, the legislative body may, if not prohibited by the charter of such city, village or township, provide for a different period during which the machine shall remain sealed or locked.

168.791a Printer type voting machines; definition, operation.

Sec. 791a. "Printer type voting machine" as used in this act means a voting machine which prints the reading upon each of the respective candidate and proposition counters directly upon one or more sheets of paper and shows the counter reading as appearing upon such machine both before the opening of the polls and after the last vote is recorded. If a printer type voting machine is used in a precinct at an election, the board of election inspectors of the precinct shall not have a key to the counter compartment of the machine, nor open the same at any time. All of the other provisions of this act relating to the conduct of elections through the use of voting machines shall be applicable to such machines, except that the counter readings shall be taken from the printed sheets rather than from the respective counters, and such sheets shall be subject to inspection the same as the counters would otherwise be. At the conclusion of the precinct canvass, one sheet showing the reading upon each of the respective counters after the last vote is recorded upon each of such machines used in the precinct, shall be included with the returns to the county board of canvassers, and one sheet from each of such machines shall be included with the returns to the local clerk. 168.792 Voting machines; discrepancy in return; investigation, re-canvass procedure, petition.

Sec. 792. Whenever it shall appear that there is a discrepancy in the returns of any election district, the board of canvassers of the county, if it be a general election at which county or state officers are elected, or the board of canvassers of the city, village or township, if it be a city, village or township election at which city, village or township officers only are elected, or the authorized representatives of such board of canvassers, shall make a record of the number of the seal, if any, the number on the protective counter, if one is provided, and shall open the counter compartment of said machine, and without unlocking the machine against voting, shall re-canvass the vote cast thereon. Before making such re-canvass, the said board of canvassers shall give sufficient notice in writing to the clerk of the time and place where said re-canvass is to be made. If upon such re-canvass it shall be found that the original canvass of the returns has been correctly made from the machine, and that the discrepancy still remains unaccounted for, the clerk or authorized assistant, in the presence of the inspectors of election and the said board of canvassers, shall unlock the voting and counting mechanism of said machine and shall proceed to thoroughly examine and test the machine to determine and reveal the true cause or causes, if any, of the discrepancy in the return from said machine. Before testing the machine, the counters in the party row or column in which the discrepancy is alleged to have occurred shall be set at zero after which each of such counters shall be operated at least 100 times. After the completion of said examination, the clerk or authorized assistant shall then and there prepare a statement in writing giving the result thereof, and said statement shall be witnessed by the persons present and shall be filed with the board of canvassers. Any candidate voted for at any election who conceives himself aggrieved on account of any fraud, error or mistake in the canvass of the vote by the inspectors or in the returns made by the inspectors of election, may file a written petition for a recount with the board of canvassers, as provided in cases where voting machines are not used.

HISTORY: New 1954, p. 268, Act 116, Eff. Jun. 1, 1955.

168.792a Absent voters' counting boards; establishment; powers and duties.

Sec. 792a. (1) In any community using voting machines, the absent voters' ballots shall be counted by absent voters' counting boards except that in communities with 2 precincts or less and prior to July 1, 1972, in cities of over 500,000 population the election commission may determine if the absent voter ballots shall be counted by absent voter counting boards or in the manner provided in section 791. Such boards shall be established by the election commission. The number of such boards established, the number of voting machines or the number of ballot boxes and the number of inspectors of election to be used in each of said boards shall be determined and the inspectors appointed by the election commission at least 10 days prior to the primary or election at which they shall be used. In no case shall more than 1,000 ballots be counted by a single counting board. Combined ballots shall be regarded as the number of ballots as there are sections to the ballot. If more than 1 counting board is to be used the election commission shall also determine to which counting board the absent voters' ballots for the several precincts shall be assigned for counting. In any governmental unit using counting boards as herein provided, all absent voters' ballots shall be counted in the manner provided in this section and no absent voters' ballots shall be delivered to the polling places.

Counting places.

(2) In any governmental unit where absent voters' ballots are counted by absent voters' counting boards, the election commission shall provide places where the boards shall count the absent voters' ballots. The places shall be designated as absent voters' counting places. All applicable laws relating to paper ballot precincts, including laws relating to the appointment of election inspectors, shall apply to absent voters' counting places except that in counting places using voting machines, as hereinafter provided, the provisions of this section relating to placing of absent voters' ballots on voting machines shall apply. No limit shall exist as to the number of such boards which may be located in 1 building.

Supplies.

(3) The clerk of any governmental unit using absent voters' counting boards shall supply each board with such supplies as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this act. The supplies shall be furnished to the clerk in the same manner and by the same persons or agencies as the supplies are furnished to the clerk for other precincts.

Delivery of ballots, time; rejected ballots.

(4) All absentee ballots received by the clerk prior to election day shall be delivered to the absent voters' counting board by the clerk at the time the inspectors of election of the boards report for duty, which time shall be established by the election commission. Absent voters' ballots received by the clerk on election day shall be delivered to the boards prior to the time set for the closing of the polls. Absent voters' ballots shall be delivered to the absent voters' counting boards in the sealed envelopes in which they were returned to the clerk by the voters. Written or stamped on each of the envelopes shall be a statement by the clerk that the signatures of the voters on the envelopes have been checked and found to agree with the signatures of the voters on the registration cards. If the signatures on the registration card and on the envelope do not agree, or if the voter has failed to sign the envelope, or if the statement of the voter is not properly executed, the clerk shall mark the envelope "rejected" and the reason therefor and shall place his name under the notation. Envelopes so marked shall not be delivered to the counting board but shall be preserved by the clerk until other ballots are destroyed.

Registration card; notation.

(5) At the time of issuing or mailing absentee ballots to qualified applicants, the clerk of each governmental unit using absent voters' counting boards shall mark the letters "A.V." and the date of election on the registration card of the applicant in the precinct registration file.

Absent voter voting in person; procedure.

(6) The provisions of this chapter shall not be construed so as to prohibit any absent voter returning to his place of residence, from voting in person on a voting machine within his precinct at any election, notwithstanding that he may have made application for an absent voters' ballot and the same may have been mailed to him. The voter shall return the ballots, if received, to the board of inspectors in his precinct. If any absent voters' ballot is so returned, the envelope containing the ballots shall be marked "cancelled" by the board and shall be returned to the clerk at the close of the polls, which clerk shall preserve such cancelled ballots for 2 years. If any absent voter shall not have received his ballot and desires to vote in person, he shall sign a sworn affidavit to that effect before 1 of the members of the board. Any voter voting at any election, both in person and by means of an absent voters' ballot, or who shall attempt so to vote, is guilty of a felony.

Processing of ballots; oath; tallying; disposition.

(7) The absent voters' counting boards shall process the ballots and returns in as nearly as possible the same manner as ballots are processed in paper ballot precincts. The poll book may be combined with absent voter list required by section 760, and the applications for absent voter ballots may be used as the poll list. The processing of absent voters' ballots may commence at 9 a.m. on election day, but no tallying of votes shall commence prior to 7 p.m. except that prior to July 1, 1971, tallying may commence at 3 p.m. on election day.

Every person including election inspectors in attendance at any absent voter counting place at any time after the processing of ballots has been started shall take and sign the following oath which may be administered by the chairman or a member of the absentee counting board:

"I (name of person taking oath) do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I shall not communicate in any way any information relative to the processing or tallying of votes that may come to me while in this counting place until after the polls are closed."

These oaths will be placed in an envelope provided for the purpose and sealed with the red state seal. Following the election the oaths will be delivered to the local clerk. No person in attendance at the absent voter counting place shall leave that place after the tallying has begun and before the polls close. Anyone who causes the polls to be closed or discloses any election result in any voting precinct, including absent voter counting boards, before the time the polls can be legally closed on election day is guilty of a felony under this act.

At the time the election commissions provide for the use of absent voters' counting boards, they may provide that such boards shall record the votes contained on absent voters' ballots on voting machines.

Such recording of ballots shall be done by the chairman of the board or another member designated by him and the act of casting such votes shall be performed in the presence and under the careful observation and full view of all members of the board, party challengers, and any other persons lawfully present, and the vote as indicated by the voting pointers shall not be recorded until each member of the board is satisfied that the arrangement of such voting pointers fully carries out the intent of the voter as shown by the cross marks on the paper ballot, and certificate to that effect shall be made on the inspectors' statement of returns.

As soon as the ballots have been cast on the voting machine, but in no case before 8 p.m., the inspectors shall seal the operating lever of the machine against voting and shall then proceed to determine and record the votes cast in the manner provided above.

Voted absent voters' ballots shall be placed in a ballot bag and a ballot box and the ballot bag and ballot box shall be sealed in the manner provided by law for paper ballot precincts. The seal numbers shall be recorded on the statement sheet and in the poll book.

Challenged voters; procedure.

(8) In governmental units where challenged voters are required to vote on absent voters' ballots, each challenged voters' ballot and his application for ballot, after having been voted and properly identified, shall be placed by the voter in an absent voter envelope. The applicable information required on the back of the envelope shall be completed by the board. The envelope shall be signed by the challenged voter and by the chairman of the precinct board. The word "challenged" shall be written across the front of the envelope. The envelope and application for ballot shall be sealed and delivered to the absent voter precinct by the clerk of the governmental unit. Immediately after the closing of the polls, the chairman of each precinct board shall notify the

The form of the inspectors' statement of returns sheets shall be suitable to the type of machine used and the inspectors' certificate contained therein shall in addition certify to the machine number, the number on the protective counter, if any, the number on the seal, and that all candidate counters, question counters and the public counter registered zero before the polls opened; also the record on the protective counter and on the seal, if any, with which the machine is sealed by the inspectors, the number on the public counter and the number of names on the poll list after the polls close; also a record of the disposition of the absent voters' ballots as provided in section 791 of this act. As soon as the names of all candidates for the several offices to be elected at that election are filed as required by law, the board or official whose duty it is to prepare the ballot labels for the machine, shall forthwith have the names of each regularly nominated candidate, together with the designating number and letter, if any, corresponding to each of the candidate's counter on the voting machine, printed in the space provided therefor: Provided, That in case of the death, resignation or failure to qualify of any of such candidates after such inspectors' statement of returns are printed, a slip may be furnished giving the name, designating number and letter, if any, of the candidate substituted therefor and same shall be pasted, before the delivery of the inspectors' statement of returns to the board of inspectors, over the candidate's name who died, resigned or failed to qualify.

Public notice of the time and place of the test shall be given at least 48 hours prior thereto by publication in the county, city, village or township where such equipment is used, if a newspaper is published therein, otherwise in a newspaper of general circulation therein. The test shall be conducted by processing a preaudited group of ballot cards so marked or punched as to record a predetermined number of valid votes for each candidate and on each measure, and shall include for each office 1 or more ballots which have votes in excess of the number allowed by law in order to test the ability of the automatic tabulating equipment to reject such votes. In such test a different number of valid votes shall be assigned to each candidate for an office, and for and against each measure. If an error is detected, its cause shall be ascertained and the error corrected and an errorless count shall be made and certified to by the board before the count is started. The tabulating equipment shall pass the same test at the conclusion of the count before the election returns are approved as official. On completion of the count, the programs, test materials and ballot cards arranged by precincts shall be sealed and retained as provided for paper ballots.

All duplicate ballots shall be clearly labeled "duplicate", and shall bear a serial number which shall be recorded on the damaged or defective ballot.

168.803 Canvass; rules for counting and recounting of votes.

Sec. 803. The following rules shall govern the counting and recounting of votes:

(1) Where it is clearly evident from an examination of any ballot that the same has been mutilated for the purpose of distinguishing it or that there has been placed thereon some mark, printing or writing for the purpose of distinguishing it, then such ballot shall be void and shall not be counted.

(2) A cross, the intersection of which shall be within or on the line of the proper circle or square, shall be valid. Crosses otherwise located on the ballot shall be void.

(3) Marks other than crosses used to designate the intention of the voter shall not be counted.

(4) A cross shall be valid even though 1 or both lines thereof shall be duplicated, provided that the lines intersect within or on the line of the square or circle.

(5) Two lines meeting within or on the line of the square or circle, although not crossing each other, shall be deemed to be a valid cross where it is apparent that the voter intended to make a cross. This provision shall not be construed as validating so-called "check marks".

(6) A failure to properly mark a ballot as to 1 or more candidates shall not of itself invalidate the entire ballot if the same has been properly marked as to other candidates, unless such improper marking shall constitute a distinguishing mark as herein defined.

(7) Erasures and corrections on a ballot made by the elector in a manner frequently used for such purpose shall not be deemed distinguishing marks or multilations [sic].

(8) Any ballot or part of a ballot from which it is impossible to determine the elector's choice of candidate shall be void as to the candidate or candidates thereby affected.

(9) Any votes cast for a deceased candidate shall be void and not counted, except that votes cast for a candidate for governor who has died and for whom a replacement has not been made, shall be counted for the candidate for lieutenant governor of that party.

(10) All ballots cast which are not counted shall be marked by the inspector "not counted", kept separate from the others by being tied or held in 1 package, and placed in the ballot box with the counted ballots.

(11) No vote shall be counted for any candidate unless a cross has been placed by the voter in the circle at the head of the party ticket, if any, on which the name of the candidate has been printed, written or placed or unless a cross has been placed by the voter in the square before the space in which the name of the candidate has been printed, written or placed.

DETERMINATION OF ELECTION BY LOT

168.851 Tie vote; determination of election by lot, procedure; drawing for state legislature.

Sec. 851. If it shall appear on the canvass of the votes polled at any election canvassed by the board of county canvassers that 2 or more persons have received an equal number of votes for the same office, and that a failure to elect to any office is caused thereby, the election to the office shall be determined in the following manner: The board of canvassers for the county in which such election was held shall appoint a day for the appearance of all affected persons before the county clerk for the purpose of determining by lot among such persons the right to the office, and shall cause notice thereof to be given to all the persons interested. The county clerk shall prepare as many slips of paper as there are such persons, and write the word "elected" on as many slips of paper as there are offices to be filled, and the words "not elected" on the remaining slips, and fold the same so as to conceal the writing and so that they may appear as near alike as possible. Sec. 852. In case it shall appear that 2 or more persons have an equal number of votes for the same office for which but 1 person is to be nominated or elected and the same shall be the highest number of votes cast therefor, and no other provision is made in this act for determination of such tie, the board of canvassers, after notice to each of such candidates of a time and place therefor, shall determine the successful candidate by lot and shall declare and certify the same accordingly. Such determination, however, shall not preclude the right of a defeated candidate to a recount of the votes cast as provided in chapter 36 of this act.

Upon receipt of a petition for recount, the clerk of the house or the secretary of the senate shall take all steps necessary to insure the security of the paper ballots and voting machines in all the precincts of the district involved. Should another recount be petitioned for in any of the precincts of a district involved in a legislative recount, no such precincts may be recounted prior to the legislative recount unless a time for the nonlegislative recount shall have been set by the board of state canvassers. The nonlegislative recount shall proceed only at a time established by and under the supervision of the board of state canvassers or their representative, who shall see that all records and ballots of the precincts so recounted are preserved, properly sealed and secured, in such manner that the legislative recount may be subsequently held in the precincts. If, upon a recount before any board of canvassers, it shall be found that the ballot box is securely sealed with the seal of record, the ballots only if they correspond in number with the poll list delivered to the proper clerk by the board of inspectors, shall be recounted even though the ballots are not secured and sealed in packages or ballot bags. (b) If a voting machine is not sealed with the seal of record in such a manner as to render it impossible to vote on the machine or to otherwise change the totals appearing on the individual candidate or proposition counters, that voting machine shall not be recounted.

(c) If the number appearing on the protective counter of a machine at the time of the recount does not equal the total of the number appearing on the protective counter at the opening of the polls as shown by the certificate of election inspectors, and the number appearing on the public counter at the time of the recount that voting machine shall not be recounted.

If one or more voting machines in a precinct can not be recounted, the original return of the election inspectors for such machine or machines shall be taken as correct.

In any machine precinct which can not be recounted, absent voters ballots tallied in such precinct shall not be recounted unless recorded separately.

Nothing in this section shall prevent the recounting of absent voters ballots tallied in a counting board precinct or in a precinct in which one or more machines are recountable if the ballots are securely packaged and sealed.

HISTORY: Am. 1939, p. 762, Act 313, Imd. Eff. June 22;—CL 1948, 205.58.

205.59 Sales tax returns; examination, recomputation; deficiency assessments, penalties, interest; limitation of action; assignment; fraudulent concealment.

Sec. 9. As soon as practicable after each return is filed the department shall examine it. If it then appears that the correct amount of tax is greater or less than that shown in the return, the tax shall be recomputed and the correct tax determined. If the amount paid exceeds that which should have been paid on the basis of the tax so recomputed, the excess so paid may be credited without interest against a subsequent tax or such amount may be refunded if requested by the taxpayer.

If the amount paid is less than the amount which should have been paid, the deficiency, together with interest thereon at the rate of 1/2 of 1% per month from the time the tax was due, shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as herein provided.

If any part of the deficiency is due to negligent or intentional disregard of this act or of authorized rules and regulations of the department, but without intent to defraud, there shall be added as a penalty 10% of the total amount of the deficiency in the tax, and interest shall be collected at the rate of 1% per month on the amount of such deficiency in the tax from the time it was due, which interest and penalty shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as hereinafter provided.

If any part of the deficiency is due to a fraudulent intent to evade the tax, there shall be added as a penalty 100% of such deficiency and the whole amount of tax unpaid, together with the penalty, shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as hereinafter provided, and an additional 1% per month on the tax shall be added from the date such tax was due until paid. Such lien shall take precedence over all other liens and incumbrances whatsoever, irrespective of character or date, except previously recorded bona fide financing.

It shall be the duty of each said assessing officer to immediately report to the department of revenue the name and address and type of business of any person found in the business of making such retail sales and not licensed to do so as required by section 3 of this act.

Any city, village, township or state officer who shall receive information which leads him to believe that a person making retail sales subject to tax under this act is about to close his business or cease making retail sales shall immediately notify the department of revenue of this fact in order that the department may make such investigation as may be necessary to protect the interests of the state.

Any person knowingly making a sale of tangible personal property to another not licensed under this act, for the purpose of resale at retail, shall be liable for the tax imposed by this act under the provisions of this act. In the event the taxpayer fails to file a return or to maintain or preserve proper records as prescribed in this section or the department has reason to believe that any records maintained or returns filed are inaccurate or incomplete and that additional taxes are due, the department shall be empowered to assess, upon such information as is available or may come into possession of the department, the amount of the tax due from the taxpayer. In case of disobedience of a subpoena, the department or any party to a proceeding before the department may invoke the aid of any circuit court of the state of Michigan in requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, papers and documents. And any of the circuit courts of the state within the jurisdiction of which such inquiry is carried on may, in case of contumacy or refusal to obey a subpoena, issue an order requiring such person to appear before said department and to produce books and papers if so ordered and give evidence touching the matter in question; and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof.

205.72 Hearing; appeal; correction of assessment; injunction.

Sec. 22. If the department after examining the return of any taxpayer and based upon such examination and on any additional information subsequently acquired, determines that the taxpayer is indebted to the state by reason of deficiency of the remittance accompanying such return, the department shall give such taxpayer notice of the intention to levy such deficiency. Such taxpayer may, if he so desires and serves notice thereof upon the department within 20 days, demand a hearing on the question of the levy of such deficiency. Thereupon the department shall set a time and place for public hearing and shall give the taxpayer reasonable notice thereof.

The taxpayer shall be entitled to appear before the department and be represented by counsel and present testimony and argument. After the hearing the department shall render its decision in writing and, by order, levy any deficiency found by it to be due and payable.

If any taxpayer is aggrieved by any decision of the department, he may appeal under the provisions of Act No. 122 of the Public Acts of 1941, as amended, or he shall be required to pay the amount of taxes, interest and penalties found due by the department and shall be permitted to bring an action in the circuit court in the county in which the business for the privilege of doing which the tax is levied is carried on, to recover the amount of the taxes alleged to have been unlawfully levied upon him. Such action shall be commenced within 90 days after payment of such tax, penalties and interest so levied and shall be conducted in accordance with the statutes and rules of procedure concerning actions at law.

In the event any taxpayer is found entitled to recover any sums paid pursuant to the orders of the department as hereinbefore provided, such sums shall be paid from the general fund of the state on order of the department and warrant of the auditor general and deducted from current sales tax collections.

No injunction shall issue to stay proceedings for assessment or collection of any taxes levied under this act.

If the amount paid is less than the amount which should have been paid, the deficiency, together with interest thereon at the rate of 1/2 of 1% per month from the time the tax was due, shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as herein provided.

If any part of the deficiency resulting from such examination is due to negligent or intentional disregard of this act or of authorized rules and regulations of the department, but without intent to defraud, there shall be added as a penalty 10% of the total amount of the deficiency in the tax, and interest shall be collected at the rate of 1% per month on the amount of such deficiency in the tax from the time it was due, which tax, interest and penalty shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as hereinafter provided.

If any part of the deficiency is due to a fraudulent intent to evade the tax, there shall be added as a penalty 100% of such deficiency and the whole amount of tax unpaid, together with this penalty, shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as hereinafter provided, and an additional 1% per month on the tax shall be added from the date such tax was due until paid. Penalties and interest for fraudulent intent to evade the tax shall not be waived by the department.

Whenever notice is required under the provisions of this act, such notice shall be given either by personal service or by registered or certified mail addressed to the last known address of the taxpayer.

No deficiency, interest or penalty shall be assessed for any year after the expiration of 4 years from June 30 for such year, nor shall the taxpayer claim refund of any amount paid by him to the department after the expiration of 4 years from the date of payment thereof. The face value of any annuity shall be its cash reserve value as carried on the books of the obligor: Provided, however, That the taxpayer, after once establishing the cash reserve value as above stated, may thereafter be entitled to compute such value annually, upon the assumption that of amounts received, all excess over the applicable interest rate guaranteed was return of principal, deductible from the face value; and if no such interest rate be guaranteed, then computation shall be based on an interest assumption of 3 per cent per annum. The term "annuities" shall not include annuity contracts pending the payment of benefits to the annuitants, nor shall it include so-called "annuities" which are in fact deferred compensation for services rendered payable under old age retirement or pension provisions of any public authority or private employer.

Where more than 1 beneficiary is entitled to the present enjoyment of the trust property, all such beneficiaries so entitled shall be deemed to be the "owners" according to their respective interests. Where there is more than 1 beneficiary, only some of which are entitled to the present enjoyment of the trust property, those beneficiaries who are so entitled shall be deemed to be the "owners." Where a trustee of a trust, as hereinbefore mentioned, must, or in his discretion may, accumulate the income thereof, the trustee shall be deemed to be the "owner" to the extent that such income shall be so accumulated. doing business at retail, arising out of the sale of goods and services at retail by such taxpayer, and with respect to which the income does not exceed the cost of carrying such receivables, shall be deemed to be nonincome producing accounts and notes receivable. Except as hereinafter provided the tax on nonincome producing intangible personal property shall be 1/10 of 1% of said face or par value. The tax on moneys on hand or in transit or on deposit in a bank shall be at the rate of 50 cents per $1,000.00 of the face value thereof and the tax on shares of stock in building and loan or savings and loan associations shall be at the rate of 50 cents per $1,000.00 of the paid-in value of such shares.

Face value, determination, retroactive date, true average.

(b) The face value, for the purpose of this section, of any item of property the face value of which changes during the tax year shall be the average value to be computed under such rules and regulations as the department of revenue may adopt, and if any item of intangible personal property subject to tax under this section is owned by the taxpayer for only a portion of the tax year the tax levied hereunder shall be reduced in proportion: Provided, however, That the department of revenue, at or about the close of each calendar year, shall retroactively fix a date which shall be the last day of any month or other accounting period during such year which may be used by any taxpayer as the date for the determination of taxable intangible personal property subject to tax under this section of which he is the owner, and as the date for the determination of the face value thereof, irrespective of any change in the face value of any item or items of such property the value of which changes during the tax year and irrespective of any acquisitions and dispositions of any such property during the tax year: Provided, That such date shall be the only date which can be used for the determination in any year of the amount of moneys on hand or in transit or on deposit in a bank or of the paid-in value of shares of stock in building and loan or savings and loan associations of any taxpayer. If the taxpayer elects to use the date so fixed, he shall, for the purpose of determining the tax imposed by this section, be deemed to have been the owner for the entire tax year of the taxable intangible personal property of which he is the owner on said date and to have received the income therefrom, if any, for such entire period. The taxpayer may, in lieu of the foregoing retroactive date method, use a true average method but once having made an election as to either method he shall not change his method except upon application to and approval by the department of revenue. No change of election shall become effective until the next tax year succeeding the filing of the application.

Death or change of domicile of taxpayer, effect.

(c) Where, due to death or change of domicile during the tax year, the intangible personal property owned by a taxpayer is subject to the tax hereby levied for only a part of a tax year, the tax shall be computed in the same manner as though such property had been subject to tax for the entire tax year and shall then be reduced in proportion: Provided, however, That where an executor or administrator appointed and qualified in Michigan succeeds to the ownership of intangible personal property previously subject to tax hereunder to the decedent for whose estate such executor or administrator shall be so appointed and qualified, for the purpose of the computation of the tax hereby levied the combined ownership of such decedent and such executor or administrator during the tax year shall be regarded as the continuous ownership of a single owner, and such executor or administrator shall be deemed to have been the owner during the entire period thereof.

Sec. 4a. Every person domiciled in or carrying on or transacting business in Michigan, as trustee or agent for another, having in his custody any taxable intangible personal property of another for investment or collection, shall file an information return in such form as may be prescribed by the department of revenue on or before the last day of the fourth month following the end of the tax year.

HISTORY: Add. 1941, p. 355, Act 233, Imd. Eff. Jun. 16;—Am. 1945, p. 234, Act 165, Eff. Sep. 6;—CL 1948, 205.134a;—Am. 1964, p. 129, Act 134, Eff. Aug. 28.

205.135 Examination of returns; determination of tax; refund of excess amount; deficiency assessments.

Sec. 5. As soon as practicable after each return is filed the department of revenue shall examine it. If it then appears that the correct amount of the tax is greater or less than that shown in the return, the tax shall be recomputed and the correct tax determined. In case of failure of the taxpayer to set forth any of the data required in the return, the department of revenue may resort to any available evidence thereof. In case the contribution value of corporate stock having no par value is not furnished by the taxpayer, the department of revenue may calculate the same from figures appearing in any report put out by such corporation or in any recognized securities manual, or, if neither of the foregoing shall be obtainable, then any other evidence which shall be obtainable by the department of revenue.

If the amount paid exceeds that which should have been paid on the basis of the tax so recomputed, the excess so paid shall be returned without interest when discovered by the department: Provided, however, That no refund shall be made to or claimed by any taxpayer of any amount paid by him to the department after the expiration of 3 years from the date of payment thereof.

If the amount paid is less than the amount which should have been paid, the deficiency, together with interest thereon at the rate of 1/2 of 1 per centum per month from the time the tax was due, shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as herein provided.

If any part of the deficiency is due to negligent or intentional disregard of this act, or of the authorized rules and regulations of the department of revenue, but without intent to defraud, there shall be added as a penalty 10 per centum of the total amount of the deficiency in the tax, and interest shall be collected at the rate of 1 per centum per month on the amount of such deficiency in the tax from the time it was due, which interest and penalty shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as herein provided.

If any part of the deficiency is due to a fraudulent intent to evade the tax, then there shall be added as a penalty 100 per centum of such deficiency and, in such a case, the whole amount of tax unpaid, together with the penalty, shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as herein provided, and an additional 1 per centum per month of the tax shall be added from the date such tax was due until paid.

Whenever notice is required under the provisions of this act, such notice shall be given either by personal service or by registered mail addressed to the last known address of the taxpayer.

No deficiency, interest or penalty shall be assessed for any year after the expiration of 3 years from the date set for the filing of the annual return for such year or the date on which said return was filed, whichever is later, except in cases of fraud: Provided, This provision shall not limit the assessment of tax, interest, and penalty in cases in which a taxpayer has not filed a return or, in case a return has been filed, has not disclosed property subject to tax under this act, and in such cases no statute of limitation

205.136 Remittances; lien against owner.

Sec. 6. All remittances of taxes, interest, and penalties imposed by this act shall be made to the department of revenue by bank draft, check, cashier's check, money order, certificate of deposit, or money. Any person having intangible personal property of another in his custody or engaged in the business of receiving moneys for deposit or savings subject to check or to other withdrawal, upon which a tax is imposed under this act, shall, pursuant to regulations adopted by the department, collect and pay the tax imposed thereon and payments so made shall be credited to the owner: Provided, That if at the time the tax is due and payable the taxpayer has no property in the control of or to his credit with such person, the latter shall be under no obligation to collect and pay said tax. When any such tax is paid, the amount thereof may be charged against the property of the owner; and the person paying the same shall have a lien thereon for the amount so paid, which lien shall be enforceable in the same manner as is provided for in section 285 of Act No. 341 of the Public Acts of 1937, as amended, being section 487.285 of the Compiled Laws of 1948. Bank deposits; stock of bank or trust company; distribution.

Any person engaged in the business of receiving moneys for deposit or savings subject to check or other withdrawal, who collects and pays the tax imposed upon the owner thereof under this act as required by this section, but does not assume the payment thereof, shall be entitled to retain for the total amount of the taxes so collected by him for each year a sum of money equal to 3% thereof as compensation for services rendered in acting as the agent of the department in collecting and paying such tax. The tax on shares of stock of state and national banks and trust companies located in Michigan shall be paid by said bank or trust company on behalf of its shareholders and the tax so paid may be charged against the shareholders for whom the tax was paid. If in any case it shall be made to appear to the department of revenue that the amount paid in accordance with this provision is in excess of the amount which should have been paid under sections 2 and 3 hereof, refund shall be made. No remittance other than cash shall be a final discharge of liability for the tax herein imposed and levied unless and until such remittance has been paid in cash. The department of revenue shall forthwith deposit all moneys received in the state treasury. Not to exceed $9,500,000.00 in any state fiscal year of the moneys so received shall be distributed among the several villages, townships and cities of the state as hereinafter provided, and all moneys so received in excess of $9,500,000.00 in any state fiscal year shall be credited (1) to a special fund to be created in the state treasury to pay fees of the paying agent and the principal and interest on bonds issued under authority of the provisions of section 24 of article 10 of the state constitution in connection with the planning, acquisition, construction and equipment of hospitals for the mentally ill and epileptics, and training schools for mental defectives, and tuberculosis hospitals, and (2) all moneys presently in this special fund, including earnings therefrom and balances therein, over and above the sum required to pay any past due principal and interest due on such bonds shall be credited to the general fund of the state. In each fiscal year all moneys so received not required to pay fees of the paying agency and the annual principal and interest due on such bonds shall be credited to the general fund of the state.

(a) If the tax imposed by this act is not paid on the date the same is required to be paid under the provisions of this act, the commission, or some person designated by it, may cause a demand to be made on the taxpayer for the payment thereof. If such tax remains unpaid for 10 days after such demand has been made and no proceedings have been taken to review the same, the commission may issue a warrant under the official seal of its office, directed to the sheriff of any county of the state or to any state officer authorized to serve process, commanding said sheriff or other officer to levy upon and sell any real or personal property of the taxpayer, found within his jurisdiction, for the payment of the amount thereof with the added penalties, interest and the cost of executing the warrant. Sec. 9. Jeopardy assessment. If the department of revenue finds that a person liable for tax under any provisions of this act designs quickly to depart from the state or to remove his intangible personal property therefrom, or to conceal himself or his intangible personal property therein, or to do any other act tending to prejudice or to render wholly or partly ineffectual proceedings to collect such tax unless proceedings be brought without delay, the department of revenue shall cause notice of such finding to be given such person, together with a demand for an immediate return and immediate payment of such tax. Thereupon such tax shall become immediately due and payable. If such person (1) is not in default in making any return or paying any tax prescribed by this act, and (2) furnishes evidence satisfactory to the department of revenue under regulations to be prescribed by the department of revenue, that he will duly return and pay the tax to which the department of revenue's finding relates, then such tax shall not be payable prior to the time otherwise fixed for payment.

No estate, in which there is intangible personal property subject to tax under this act, shall be closed without the payment of the tax levied by this act, both in respect to the liability of the estate and the decedent prior to his death. In the closing of estates the department of revenue may accept the inventory and final account in lieu of the filing of a return, or may require the filing of a return or such additional information as the department of revenue may require.

In case the inventory of the estate shall disclose intangible personal property for which no return has been filed and the records of the taxpayer do not disclose the date of acquisition of such property, for the purpose of computation of the tax it may be assumed that the deceased was the owner of such property during the entire period for which no return has been filed, but not to exceed 3 years prior to the death of the deceased.

of monthly values during the tax period if reasonably required to reflect properly the average value of the taxpayer's property.

Payroll factor.

(2) The payroll factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the total amount paid in this state during the tax period by the taxpayer for compensation, and the denominator of which is the total compensation paid everywhere during the tax period.

Compensation is paid in this state if:

(a) The individual's service is performed entirely within the state; or

(b) The individual's service is performed both within and without the state, but the service performed without the state is incidental to the individual's service within the state; or

(c) Some of the service is performed in the state and (1) the base of operations or, if there is no base of operations, the place from which the service is directed or controlled is in the state, or (2) the base of operations or the place from which the service is directed or controlled is not in any state in which some part of the service is performed, but the individual's residence is in this state.

Sales factor.

(3) The sales factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the gross receipts of the taxpayer in this state during the tax period, and the denominator of which is the gross receipts of the taxpayer everywhere during the tax period.

(a) Gross receipts from sales of tangible personal property are in this state if:

(i) The property is delivered or shipped to a purchaser, other than the United States government, within this state regardless of the f.o.b. point or other conditions of the sale; or

(ii) The property is shipped from an office, store, warehouse, factory, or other place of storage in this state and the purchaser is the United States government or the taxpayer is not taxable in the state of the purchaser. A taxpayer is taxable in another state if in that state he is subject to a net income tax, a franchise tax measured by net income, a franchise tax for the privilege of doing business, or a corporate stock tax, or that state has jurisdiction to subject the taxpayer to a net income tax regardless of whether, in fact, the state does or does not.

(b) Gross receipts from business other than sales of tangible personal property are in this state if:

(i) The income-producing activity is performed in this state; or

(ii) The income-producing activity is performed both in and outside the state and a greater proportion of the income-producing activity is performed in this state than in any other state, based on costs of performance.

(c) If the allocation and apportionment provisions of this act do not fairly represent the extent of the taxpayer's business in this state, the taxpayer may petition for or the department may require, in respect to all or any part of the taxpayer's business, if reasonable:

(1) Separate accounting;

(2) The exclusion of any 1 or more of the factors;

(3) The inclusion of 1 or more additional factors which will fairly represent the taxpayer's business in this state; or Alternative methods.

(4) The employment of any other method to effectuate an equitable allocation and apportionment.

An alternative method will be effective only with prior approval of the commissioner.

(e) After the filing by a taxpayer of a return as required herein for the calendar year 1940, no proceeding shall be maintained against such taxpayer or the property of such taxpayer or his assigns for the enforcement of any tax or any penalty arising out of any prior law imposing a tax upon or with respect to intangible personal property, subject to tax under this act, of such taxpayer other than for the enforcement of a tax actually levied prior to the calendar year 1940.

Such taxpayer may, if he so desires and serves notice thereof upon the commission within 20 days, demand a hearing on the question of the levy of such tax or deficiency. Thereupon the commission shall set a time and place for hearing and shall give the taxpayer reasonable notice thereof. The taxpayer shall be entitled to appear before the commission and be represented by counsel and present testimony and argument. After the hearing the commission shall render its decision in writing and, by order, levy any deficiency found by it to be due and payable.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

205.201 Inheritance taxes; transfers taxable.

Sec. 1. That after the passage of this act a tax shall be and is hereby imposed upon the transfer of any property, real or personal, of the value of $100.00 or over, or of any interest therein or income therefrom, in trust or otherwise, to persons or corporations, not exempt by law in this state from taxation on real or personal property or not heretofore or hereafter existing within this state as incorporated foundations or not heretofore existing within this state as established nonprofit unincorporated foundations operated exclusively for benevolent, charitable or educational purposes, in the following cases:

Residents.

First, When the transfer is by will or by the intestate laws of this state from any person dying seized or possessed of the property while a resident of this state;

Nonresidents.

Second, When the transfer is by will or intestate law of property within the state, and the decedent was a nonresident of the state at the time of his death;

Transfer in contemplation of death, presumption.

Third, When the transfer is of property made by a resident or by nonresident, when such nonresident's property is within this state, by deed, grant, bargain, sale or gift made in contemplation of the death of the grantor, vendor or donor or intended to take effect, in possession or enjoyment at or after such death. Any transfer of a material part of this property in the nature of a final disposition or distribution thereof made by the decedent within 2 years prior to his death, except in case of a bona fide sale for a fair consideration in money or money's worth, shall, unless shown to the contrary, be deemed to have been made in contemplation of death within the meaning of this section. Such tax shall also be imposed when any such grantee, vendee or donee becomes beneficially entitled in possession or expectancy to any property or the income thereof by any such transfer, whether made before or after the passage of this act;

Power of appointment.

Fourth, Whenever any person or persons, corporation or association, whether voluntary or organized pursuant to any statute shall exercise a power of appointment derived from any disposition of property made either before or after the passage of this act, such appointment when made shall be deemed a transfer taxable under the provisions of this act in the same manner as though the property to which such appointment relates belonged absolutely to the donee of such power and had been bequeathed or devised to such donee by will; and whenever any person or persons, corporation or association, whether voluntary or organized pursuant to any statute, possessing such a power or appointment so derived shall omit or fail to exercise the same within the time provided therefor in whole or in part, a transfer taxable under the provisions of this act shall be deemed to take place to the extent of such omission or failure, in the same manner as though the person or persons, corporation or association thereby becoming entitled to the possession or enjoyment of the property to which such power related had succeeded thereto by a will of the donee of the power failing to exercise such power, taking effect at the time of such omission or failure;

Personal property, exemption, reciprocity.

Provided, however, That no tax shall be imposed in respect of personal property (except tangible personal property having an actual situs in this state), if

For the purposes of this section the District of Columbia and possessions of the United States shall be considered territories of the United States. The term "foreign country" and "country" as used herein shall mean both any foreign country and any political subdivision thereof, and either of them of which the transferor was domiciled therein at the time of his death. For the purposes of this section, the term "tangible personal property" shall be construed to exclude all property commonly classed as intangible personal property, such as deposits in banks, mortgages, debts, receivables, shares of stock, bonds, notes, credits, evidences of an interest in property, evidences of debt and like incorporeal personal property;

Exempt foreign benevolent, charitable, religious, or educational corporations, reciprocity.

Filing of proof.

(2) At any time before the expiration of 18 months after the qualification in any probate court in this state of any executor of the will or administrator of the estate of any non-resident decedent, such executor or administrator shall file with such court proof that all death taxes, together with interest or penalties thereon, which are due to the state of domicile of such decedent, or to any political subdivision thereof, have been paid or secured, or that no such taxes, interest or penalties are due, as the case may be, unless it appears that letters testamentary or of administration have been issued on the estate of such decedent in the state of his domicile, in the 4 following subsections called the domiciliary state.

Notice to domiciliary state.

(3) The proof required by subsection (2) may be in the form of a certificate issued by the official or body charged with the administration of the death tax laws of the domiciliary state. Liberal construction.

(6) The provisions of subsections (1) to (5), inclusive, shall be liberally construed in order to ensure that the domiciliary state of any non-resident decedent whose estate is administered in this state shall receive any death taxes, together with interest and penalties thereon, due to it from the estate of such decedent.

Same; tax rate on excess; widow's allowance.

Second. In case the clear market value of the property transferred to each individual of the persons included in the classes specified in paragraph 1 hereof exceeds the exemptions specified in paragraph 1, such exemptions shall first be deducted therefrom; when the clear market value of such property shall not exceed 50,000 dollars before deducting such exemptions the transfer of such property in excess of the exemptions herein provided and up to said 50,000 dollars shall be taxed under this act at the rate of 2 per centum of the clear market value thereof. posed plus all other credits allowed by the federal act for taxes paid the state governments, and 80 per centum of the tax which may be imposed by said federal revenue act. Such taxes are hereby imposed upon the transfers in estates of every person who, at the time of death, was a resident of this state. The purpose of this section is to obtain the benefit of the credit allowed under the provisions of title 3, section 301, subsection B of the United States revenue act of 1926, to the extent that this state may be entitled by the provisions of said act, by imposing additional taxes and the same shall be liberally construed to effect this purpose. Such additional tax shall be levied and assessed upon transfers and against the interests of beneficiaries liable for inheritance taxes, who would be liable to pay the federal tax as assessed before deducting the 80 per centum provided in said federal act. It shall be the duty of executors and administrators of estates subject to the payment of a federal estate tax, to file duplicates of the United States tax returns with the probate court. The provisions of this section shall apply to the estates of decedents dying on or after the effective date of the federal revenue act of 1926, except in those estates where the tax was paid in full prior to May 21, 1929, in accordance with the provisions of law then in force. Upon the final federal determination of 80 per centum of the federal estate tax the state treasurer and the auditor general shall refund and pay back to the executor, administrator or trustee of such estate or other person interested thereunder out of the primary school fund all moneys theretofore paid to the appropriate county treasurer under this act in excess of said 80 per centum which shall have been paid pursuant to said provision requiring the payment of an amount equal to the difference between the total of such taxes hereinbefore imposed plus all other credits allowed by the federal act for taxes paid the state governments, and 80 per centum of the tax which may be imposed by said federal revenue act and mandamus shall be available to such executor, administrator, trustee or other person to compel such refund and repayment. This section shall not be affected by any subsequent repeal or changes in the federal revenue act of 1926 after the effective date hereof, nor any amendments thereto, and if the United States should alter, change or discontinue the imposition of the estate, legacy or succession taxes, the tax herein provided shall continue to be levied, imposed and collected upon estates of decedents resident of this state as hereinbefore provided.

At the same time the auditor general shall send to the county treasurer the state treasurer's receipt, countersigned as required by law, showing payment of tax. The sealing and countersigning of said receipts shall not prejudice the right of the state to a review of the determination fixing the tax. The receipts issued under this section shall show whether the amount paid is a payment of the tax upon any beneficial interest or upon the entire transfer. But no executor, administrator or trustee of an estate, in settlement of which a tax is due under the provisions of this act, shall be discharged and the estate or trust closed by a decree of the court, unless there shall be produced a receipt signed by the county treasurer and sealed and countersigned by the auditor general, or a copy thereof, certified by the county treasurer, or unless payment of the tax has been deferred as prescribed by section 7 of this act. When any such tax shall be paid to the county treasurer, he shall, in addition to the duplicate receipts required to be issued upon the form prescribed by the auditor general, give the executor, administrator, trustee, or other person paying the tax, a simple receipt for the amount received. All taxes imposed by this act shall accrue and be due and payable at the time of transfer, which is the date of death: Provided, however, That taxes upon the transfer of any estate, property or interest therein limited, conditioned, dependent or determinable upon the happening of any contingency or future event, by reason of which the clear market value thereof cannot be ascertained at the time of the transfer as herein provided, shall accrue and become due and payable when the persons or corporations beneficially entitled thereto shall come into actual possession or enjoyment thereof.

And in such proceedings, all persons owning such property or any interest therein as shown by the record in the office of the register of deeds, or by the records of the probate court, at the time of the commencement of the proceedings, shall be made parties to such action, and all other persons having any rights or interest in said property, may make themselves parties thereto, on motion to the court, and notice to complainant, and may file their intervening or cross bills, or answers claiming the benefit of cross bills, and notices of lis pendens therein. In those cases in which the property upon which the lien exists is owned by the person or persons to whom it was transferred by will or under the intestate laws, the prayer for relief shall be that the court determine the amount due; that the defendant pay to the county treasurer of the county, in which the estate was probated, for and in behalf of the state of Michigan, whatever sum shall appear to be due, together with the costs of the proceeding, and that in default of such payment the property upon which the lien exists, may be sold in the manner herein provided, to satisfy such taxes, interest and cost. In those cases in which the property upon which the lien exists is owned by a subsequent purchaser, the prayer for relief shall be that the court determine the amount due and that the property upon which the lien exists may be sold in the manner herein provided to satisfy such taxes, interest and costs of the proceeding. Such information may contain such other and further allegations and prayers as are deemed material and permitted by the rules and practice of the court;

Also a certificate of the auditor general stating that the inheritance tax, or any part thereof determined upon the transfer of such property upon which the lien exists, has not been paid, may be attached to such information and when so attached shall be considered a part thereof and shall be prima facie evidence of the non-payment of such an amount of the tax and interest as shown to be unpaid by such certificate;

If it shall appear that the person or persons to whom was transferred the property by will or under the intestate laws, have parted with their interest therein before the institution of the proceedings herein provided for, and that such property is owned by a subsequent purchaser, the court shall decree that such property be sold to satisfy such taxes, interest and costs, unless the owner thereof satisfies such taxes, interest and costs within 3 months from the entry of such decree: Provided, That in those cases in which it shall appear that 2 or more pieces or parcels of land were transferred by will or under the intestate laws, to 1 person, and that such person has, prior to the institution of the proceedings herein provided for, parted with either or all of said pieces or parcels of land and that the court can ascertain from the order of determination, the amount of inheritance tax, determined upon the transfer of each piece or parcel and that the lien against all of said pieces or parcels is being foreclosed in 1 proceeding, the court may decree the sale of said piece or parcel, to satisfy the amount of tax determined upon the transfer of said piece or parcel, together with the interest thereon and the pro rata costs of the proceeding: Provided, That in no case shall any such property be sold to satisfy such taxes, interest and costs within 3 months after the entry of such decree: Provided further, That if the person or persons owning such property or any interest therein, his heirs, executors, administrators, or any person lawfully claiming from or under him or them, shall within 6 months from the time of such sale redeem the entire premises sold, by paying to the register of deeds in whose office the deed is deposited, as provided by the eleventh subdivision of this section, for the benefit of such purchaser, his executors, administrators, or assigns, the sum which was bid therefor at the time of sale, with interest, at the rate of 6 per cent, together with the sum of 1 dollar as a fee for the care and custody of such redemption money, and the fee paid by the purchaser for recording his deed, then said deed shall be void and of no effect, but in case any distinct lot or parcel separately sold shall be redeemed leaving a portion of the premises unredeemed, then such deed shall be inoperative merely to the parcel or parcels so redeemed and to those portions not so redeemed shall remain valid and of full effect;

Sale of property, court order.

Eighth, If it shall appear to the court after the expiration of 3 months from the date of entry of the decree from a certificate of the county treasurer to whom the taxes, interest and costs were to be paid, attached to a petition of the attorney general for an order of sale of such property, that the same have not been paid, he shall enter an order directing the circuit court commissioner, or some other person duly authorized by the order of the court, to sell such property. Unless the premises described in such deed, or any parcel thereof, shall be redeemed within the time limited for such redemption, as herein provided, such deed shall thereupon as to all parcels not so redeemed, become operative and shall vest in the grantee therein named, his heirs or assigns all the right, title and interest therein which the person or persons received therein either from the deceased by reason of the transfer to them by will or under the intestate laws, or as subsequent purchasers.

Proceeds of sale; redemption money; disposition.

Twelfth, The proceeds of every sale herein provided for shall be paid to the treasurer of the county wherein the estate was probated, to be applied to the discharge of the tax, interest and costs, and if there be any surplus, it shall be brought into court for the use of the defendant, or the person entitled thereto, subject to the order of the court. (5) (a) Net rents and royalties from real property located in this state are allocable to this state.

(b) Net rents and royalties from tangible personal property are allocable to this state: (1) If and to the extent that the property is utilized in this state, or (2) in their entirety if the taxpayer's commercial domicile is in this state and the taxpayer is not organized under the laws of or taxable in the state in which the property is utilized.

(c) The extent of utilization of tangible personal property in a state is determined by multiplying the rents and royalties by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of days of physical location of the property in the state during the rental or royalty period in the taxable year and the denominator of which is the number of days of physical location of the property everywhere during all rental or royalty periods in the taxable year. If the physical location of the property during the rental or royalty period is unknown or unascertainable by the taxpayer, tangible personal property is utilized in the state in which the property was located at the time the rental or royalty payer obtained possession.

(b) A patent is utilized in a state to the extent that it is employed in production, fabrication, manufacturing, or other processing in the state or to the extent that a patented product is produced in the state. If the basis of receipts from patent royalties does not permit allocation to states or if the accounting procedures do not reflect states of utilization, the patent is utilized in the state in which the taxpayer's commercial domicile is located.

(c) A copyright is utilized in a state to the extent that printing or other publication originates in the state. If the basis of receipts from copyright royalties does not permit allocation to states or if the accounting procedures do not reflect states of utilization, the copyright is utilized in the state in which the taxpayer's commercial domicile is located.

(9) All business income shall be apportioned to this state by multiplying the income by a fraction, the numerator of which is the property factor plus the payroll factor plus the sales factor, and the denominator of which is 3.

the taxpayer's real and tangible personal property owned or rented and used during the tax period.

(11) Property owned by the taxpayer is valued at its original cost. Property rented by the taxpayer is valued at 8 times the net annual rental rate. Net annual rental rate is the annual rental rate paid by the taxpayer less any annual rental rate received by the taxpayer from subrentals.

(12) The average value of property shall be determined by averaging the values at the beginning and ending of the tax period but the tax administrator may require the averaging of monthly values during the tax period if reasonably required to reflect properly the average value of the taxpayer's property.

(13) The payroll factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the total amount paid in this state during the tax period by the taxpayer for compensation and the denominator of which is the total compensation paid everywhere during the tax period.

(14) Compensation is paid in this state if:

(a) The individual's service is performed entirely within the state;

(b) The individual's service is performed both within and without the state, but the service performed without the state is incidental to the individual's service within the state; or

(c) Some of the service is performed in the state and (1) the base of operations or, if there is no base of operations, the place from which the service is directed or controlled is in the state, or (2) the base of operations or the place from which the service is directed or controlled is not in any state in which some part of the service is performed, but the individual's residence is in this state.

(15) The sales factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the total sales of the taxpayer in this state during the tax period, and the denominator of which is the total sales of the taxpayer everywhere during the tax period.

(16) Sales of tangible personal property are in this state if:

(b) The property is shipped from an office, store, warehouse, factory, or other place of storage in this state and (1) the purchaser is the United States government or (2) the taxpayer is not taxable in the state of the purchaser.

(17) Sales, other than sales of tangible personal property, are in this state if:

(a) The income-producing activity is performed in this state; or

(b) The income-producing activity is performed both in and outside this state and a greater proportion of the income-producing activity is performed in this state than in any other state, based on costs of performance.

(18) If the allocation and apportionment provisions of this article do not fairly represent the extent of the taxpayer's business activity in this state, the taxpayer may petition for or the tax administrator may require, in respect to all or any part of the taxpayer's business activity, if reasonable:

(a) Separate accounting;

(b) The exclusion of any one or more of the factors;

(c) The inclusion of 1 or more additional factors which will fairly represent the taxpayer's business activity in this state; or

(d) The employment of any other method to effectuate an equitable allocation and apportionment of the taxpayer's income.

Article V. Elements of Sales and Use Tax Laws.

Tax Credit.

(1) Each purchaser liable for a use tax on tangible personal property shall be entitled to full credit for the combined amount or amounts of legally imposed sales or use taxes paid by him with respect to the same property to another state and any subdivision thereof. The credit shall be applied first against the amount of any use tax due the state, and any unused portion of the credit shall then be applied against the amount of any use tax due a subdivision.

Exemption Certificates, Vendors May Rely.

(2) Whenever a vendor receives and accepts in good faith from a purchaser a resale or other exemption certificate or other written evidence of exemption authorized by the appropriate state or subdivision taxing authority, the vendor shall be relieved of liability for a sales or use tax with respect to the transaction.

Article VI. The Commission.

Organization and Management.

(1) (a) The multistate tax commission is hereby established. It shall be composed of 1 "member" from each party state who shall be the head of the state agency charged with the administration of the types of taxes to which this compact applies. If there is more than 1 such agency, the state shall provide by law for the selection of the commission member from the heads of the relevant agencies. State law may provide that a member of the commission be represented by an alternate but only if there is on file with the commission written notification of the designation and identity of the alternate. The attorney general of each party state or his designee, or other counsel if the laws of the party state specifically provide, shall be entitled to attend the meetings of the commission, but shall not vote. Such attorneys general, designees, or other counsel shall receive all notices of meetings required under paragraph 1 (e) of this article.

(b) Each party state shall provide by law for the selection of representatives from its subdivisions affected by this compact to consult with the commission member from that state.

(c) Each member shall be entitled to 1 vote. The commission shall not act unless a majority of the members are present, and no action shall be binding unless approved by a majority of the total number of members.

(d) The commission shall adopt an official seal to be used as it may provide.

(e) The commission shall hold an annual meeting and such other regular meetings as its bylaws may provide and such special meetings as its executive committee may determine. The commission bylaws shall specify the dates of the annual and any other regular meetings, and shall provide for the giving of notice of annual, regular and special meetings. Notices of special meetings shall include the reasons therefor and an agenda of the items to be considered.

(f) The commission shall elect annually, from among its members, a chairman, a vice chairman and a treasurer. The commission shall appoint an executive director who shall serve at its pleasure, and it shall fix his duties and compensation. The executive director shall be secretary of the commission. The commission shall make provision for the bonding of such of its officers and employees as it may deem appropriate.

(g) Irrespective of the civil service, personnel or other merit system laws of any party state, the executive director shall appoint or discharge such personnel as may be necessary for the performance of the functions of the commission and shall fix their duties and compensation. The commission bylaws shall provide for personnel policies and programs.

(h) The commission may borrow, accept or contract for the services of personnel from any state, the United States, or any other governmental entity.

(j) The commission may establish 1 or more offices for the transacting of its business.

(k) The commission shall adopt bylaws for the conduct of its business. The commission shall publish its bylaws in convenient form, and shall file a copy of the bylaws and any amendments thereto with the appropriate agency or officer in each of the party states.

(l) The commission annually shall make to the governor and legislature of each party state a report covering its activities for the preceding year. Any donation or grant accepted by the commission or services borrowed shall be reported in the annual report of the commission, and shall include the nature, amount and conditions, if any, of the donation, gift, grant or services borrowed and the identity of the donor or lender. The commission may make additional reports as it may deem desirable.

Committees.

(2) (a) To assist in the conduct of its business when the full commission is not meeting, the commission shall have an executive committee of 7 members, including the chairman, vice chairman, treasurer and 4 other members elected annually by the commission. The executive committee, subject to the provisions of this compact and consistent with the policies of the commission, shall function as provided in the bylaws of the commission.

(b) The commission may establish advisory and technical committees, membership on which may include private persons and public officials, in furthering any of its activities. Such committees may consider any matter of concern to the commission, including problems of special interest to any party state and problems dealing with particular types of taxes.

(c) The commission may establish such additional committees as its bylaws may provide.

Powers.

(3) In addition to powers conferred elsewhere in this compact, the commission shall have power to:

(a) Study state and local tax systems and particular types of state and local taxes.

(b) Develop and recommend proposals for an increase in uniformity or compatibility of state and local tax laws with a view toward encouraging the simplification and improvement of state and local tax law and administration.

(c) Compile and publish information as in its judgment would assist the party states in implementation of the compact and taxpayers in complying with state and local tax laws.

(d) Do all things necessary and incidental to the administration of its functions pursuant to this compact.

Finance.

(4) (a) The commission shall submit to the governor or designated officer or officers of each party state a budget of its estimated expenditures for such period as may be required by the laws of that state for presentation to the legislature thereof.

(b) Each of the commission's budgets of estimated expenditures shall contain specific recommendations of the amounts to be appropriated by each of the party states. The total amount of appropriations requested under any such budget shall be apportioned among the party states as follows: one-tenth in equal shares; and the remainder in proportion to the amount of revenue collected by each party state and its subdivisions from income taxes, capital stock taxes, gross receipts taxes, sales and use taxes. In

Each of the commission's budgets of estimated expenditures and requests for appropriations shall indicate the sources used in obtaining information employed in applying the formula contained in this paragraph.

(c) The commission shall not pledge the credit of any party state. The commission may meet any of its obligations in whole or in part with funds available to it under paragraph (1) (i) of this article: provided that the commission takes specific action setting aside such funds prior to incurring any obligation to be met in whole or in part in such manner. Except where the commission makes use of funds available to it under paragraph (1) (i), the commission shall not incur any obligation prior to the allotment of funds by the party states adequate to meet the same.

(d) The commission shall keep accurate accounts of all receipts and disbursements. The receipts and disbursements of the commission shall be subject to the audit and accounting procedures established under its bylaws. All receipts and disbursements of funds handled by the commission shall be audited yearly by a certified or licensed public accountant and the report of the audit shall be included in and become part of the annual report of the commission.

(e) The accounts of the commission shall be open at any reasonable time for inspection by duly constituted officers of the party states and by any persons authorized by the commission.

(f) Nothing contained in this article shall be construed to prevent commission compliance with laws relating to audit or inspection of accounts by or on behalf of any government contributing to the support of the commission.

Article VII. Uniform Regulations and Forms.

(1) Whenever any 2 or more party states, or subdivisions of party states, have uniform or similar provisions of law relating to an income tax, capital stock tax, gross receipts tax, sales or use tax, the commission may adopt uniform regulations for any phase of the administration of such law, including assertion of jurisdiction to tax, or prescribing uniform tax forms. The commission may also act with respect to the provisions of article IV of this compact.

(2) Prior to the adoption of any regulation, the commission shall:

(a) As provided in its bylaws, hold at least 1 public hearing on due notice to all affected party states and subdivisions thereof and to all taxpayers and other persons who have made timely request of the commission for advance notice of its regulation-making proceedings.

(b) Afford all affected party states and subdivisions and interested persons an opportunity to submit relevant written data and views, which shall be considered fully by the commission.

(3) The commission shall submit any regulations adopted by it to the appropriate officials of all party states and subdivisions to which they might apply. Each such state and subdivision shall consider any such regulation for adoption in accordance with its own laws and procedures.

Article VIII. Interstate Audits.

(1) This article shall be in force only in those party states that specifically provide therefor by statute.

(2) Any party state or subdivision thereof desiring to make or participate in an audit of any accounts, books, papers, records or other documents may request the commission to perform the audit on its behalf. In responding to the request, the commission shall have access to and may examine, at any reasonable time, such accounts, books, papers, records, and other documents and any relevant property or stock of merchandise. The commission may enter into agreements with party states or their subdivisions for assistance in performance of the audit. The commission shall make charges, to be paid by the state or local government or governments for which it performs the service, for any audits performed by it in order to reimburse itself for the actual costs incurred in making the audit.

(3) The commission may require the attendance of any person within the state where it is conducting an audit or part thereof at a time and place fixed by it within such state for the purpose of giving testimony with respect to any account, book, paper, document, other record, property or stock of merchandise being examined in connection with the audit. If the person is not within the jurisdiction, he may be required to attend for such purpose at any time and place fixed by the commission within the state of which he is a resident: provided that such state has adopted this article.

(4) The commission may apply to any court having power to issue compulsory process for orders in aid of its powers and responsibilities pursuant to this article and any and all such courts shall have jurisdiction to issue such orders. Failure of any person to obey any such order shall be punishable as contempt of the issuing court. If the party or subject matter on account of which the commission seeks an order is within the jurisdiction of the court to which application is made, such application may be to a court in the state or subdivision on behalf of which the audit is being made or a court in the state in which the object of the order being sought is situated. The provisions of this paragraph apply only to courts in a state that has adopted this article.

(5) The commission may decline to perform any audit requested if it finds that its available personnel or other resources are insufficient for the purpose or that, in the terms requested, the audit is impracticable of satisfactory performance. If the commission, on the basis of its experience, has reason to believe that an audit of a particular taxpayer, either at a particular time or on a particular schedule, would be of interest to a number of party states or their subdivisions, it may offer to make the audit or audits, the offer to be contingent on sufficient participation therein as determined by the commission.

(6) Information obtained by any audit pursuant to this article shall be confidential and available only for tax purposes to party states, their subdivisions or the United States. Availability of information shall be in accordance with the laws of the states or subdivisions on whose account the commission performs the audit, and only through the appropriate agencies or officers of such states or subdivisions. Nothing in this article shall be construed to require any taxpayer to keep records for any period not otherwise required by law.

(7) Other arrangements made or authorized pursuant to law for cooperative audit by or on behalf of the party states or any of their subdivisions are not superseded or invalidated by this article.

(8) In no event shall the commission make any charge against a taxpayer for an audit.

(9) As used in this article, "tax," in addition to the meaning ascribed to it in article II, means any tax or license fee imposed in whole or in part for revenue purposes.

Article IX. Arbitration.

(1) Whenever the commission finds a need for settling disputes concerning apportionments and allocations by arbitration, it may adopt a regulation placing this article in effect, notwithstanding the provisions of article VII.

(2) The commission shall select and maintain an arbitration panel composed of officers and employees of state and local governments and private persons who shall be knowledgeable and experienced in matters of tax law and administration.

(3) Whenever a taxpayer who has elected to employ article IV, or whenever the laws of the party state or subdivision thereof are substantially identical with the relevant provisions of article IV, the taxpayer, by written notice to the commission and to each party state or subdivision thereof that would be affected, may secure arbitration of an apportionment or allocation, if he is dissatisfied with the final administrative determination of the tax agency of the state or subdivision with respect thereto on the ground that it would subject him to double or multiple taxation by 2 or more party states or subdivisions thereof. Each party state and subdivision thereof hereby consents to the arbitration as provided herein, and agrees to be bound thereby.

(4) The arbitration board shall be composed of 1 person selected by the taxpayer, 1 by the agency or agencies involved, and 1 member of the commission's arbitration panel. If the agencies involved are unable to agree on the person to be selected by them, such person shall be selected by lot from the total membership of the arbitration panel. The 2 persons selected for the board in the manner provided by the foregoing provisions of this paragraph shall jointly select the third member of the board. If they are unable to agree on the selection, the third member shall be selected by lot from among the total membership of the arbitration panel. No member of a board selected by lot shall be qualified to serve if he is an officer or employee or is otherwise affiliated with any party to the arbitration proceeding. Residence within the jurisdiction of a party to the arbitration proceeding shall not constitute affiliation within the meaning of this paragraph.

(5) The board may sit in any state or subdivision party to the proceeding, in the state of the taxpayer's incorporation, residence or domicile, in any state where the taxpayer does business, or in any place that it finds most appropriate for gaining access to evidence relevant to the matter before it.

(6) The board shall give due notice of the times and places of its hearings. The parties shall be entitled to be heard, to present evidence, and to examine and cross-examine witnesses. The board shall act by majority vote.

(7) The board shall have power to administer oaths, take testimony, subpoena and require the attendance of witnesses and the production of accounts, books, papers, records, and other documents, and issue commissions to take testimony. Subpoenas may be signed by any member of the board. In case of failure to obey a subpoena, and upon application by the board, any judge of a court of competent jurisdiction of the state in which the board is sitting or in which the person to whom the subpoena is directed may be found may make an order requiring compliance with the subpoena, and the court may punish failure to obey the order as a contempt. The provisions of this paragraph apply only in states that have adopted this article.

(8) Unless the parties otherwise agree the expenses and other costs of the arbitration shall be assessed and allocated among the parties by the board in such manner as it may determine. The commission shall fix a schedule of compensation for members of arbitration boards and of other allowable expenses and costs. No officer or employee of a state or local government who serves as a member of a board shall be entitled to compensation therefor unless he is required on account of his service to forego the regular compensation attaching to his public employment, but any such board member shall be entitled to expenses.

(9) The board shall determine the disputed apportionment or allocation and any matters necessary thereto. The determinations of the board shall be final for purposes of making the apportionment or allocation, but for no other purpose.

(10) The board shall file with the commission and with each tax agency represented in the proceeding: the determination of the board; the board's written statement of its

(11) The commission shall publish the determinations of boards together with the statements of the reasons therefor.

(12) The commission shall adopt and publish rules of procedure and practice and shall file a copy of such rules and of any amendment thereto with the appropriate agency or officer in each of the party states.

(13) Nothing contained herein shall prevent at any time a written compromise of any matter or matters in dispute, if otherwise lawful, by the parties to the arbitration proceeding.

Article X. Entry Into Force and Withdrawal.

(1) This compact shall enter into force when enacted into law by any 7 states. Thereafter, this compact shall become effective as to any other state upon its enactment thereof. The commission shall arrange for notification of all party states whenever there is a new enactment of the compact.

(2) Any party state may withdraw from this compact by enacting a statute repealing the same. No withdrawal shall affect any liability already incurred by or chargeable to a party state prior to the time of such withdrawal.

(3) No proceeding commenced before an arbitration board prior to the withdrawal of a state and to which the withdrawing state or any subdivision thereof is a party shall be discontinued or terminated by the withdrawal, nor shall the board thereby lose jurisdiction over any of the parties to the proceeding necessary to make a binding determination therein.

Article XI. Effect on Other Laws and Jurisdiction.

Nothing in this compact shall be construed to:

(a) Affect the power of any state or subdivision thereof to fix rates of taxation, except that a party state shall be obligated to implement article III (2) of this compact.

(b) Apply to any tax or fixed fee imposed for the registration of a motor vehicle or any tax on motor fuel, other than a sales tax: provided that the definition of "tax" in article VIII (9) may apply for the purposes of that article and the commission's powers of study and recommendation pursuant to article VI (3) may apply.

(c) Withdraw or limit the jurisdiction of any state or local court or administrative officer or body with respect to any person, corporation or other entity or subject matter, except to the extent that such jurisdiction is expressly conferred by or pursuant to this compact upon another agency or body.

(d) Supersede or limit the jurisdiction of any court of the United States.

Article XII. Construction and Severability.

This compact shall be liberally construed so as to effectuate the purposes thereof. The provisions of this compact shall be severable and if any phrase, clause, sentence or provision of this compact is declared to be contrary to the constitution of any state or of the United States or the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person or circumstance is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of this compact and the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person or circumstance shall not be affected thereby. If this compact shall be held contrary to the constitution of any state participating therein, the compact shall remain in full force and effect as to the remaining party states and in full force and effect as to the state affected as to all severable matters.

205.605 Domicile of decedents for death tax purposes, settlement of disputes; written agreement after arbitration commenced.

Sec. 5. Notwithstanding the commencement of a legal action for determination of domicile within this state or the commencement of an arbitration proceeding, as provided in section 4, the commissioner of revenue of this state may in any case enter into a written agreement with the other taxing officials involved and with the executors to accept a certain sum in full payment of any death tax, together with interest and penalties, that may be due this state, provided this agreement fixes the amount to be paid the other states involved in the dispute, at any time before such proceeding is concluded. Upon the filing of this agreement with the authority which would have jurisdiction to assess the death tax of this state, if the decedent died domiciled in this state, an assessment shall be made as provided in such agreement, and this assessment finally and conclusively fixes the amount of death tax due this state. If the aggregate amount payable under such agreement or under an agreement made in accordance with the provisions of section 3 to the states involved is less than the minimum credit allowable to the estate against the United States estate tax imposed with respect thereto, the executor forthwith shall also pay to the commissioner of taxation of this state the same percentage of the difference between such aggregate amount of such credit as the amount payable to such commissioner under such agreement bears to such aggregate amount.

(d) Any person who discriminates in the charging or collection of rent because the renter or lessee is receiving a credit under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Each acceptance of a payment of rent shall be considered a separate offense.

(3) When the amount paid with a quarterly estimated tax return is less than the amount required by sections 301 and 302, interest on that deficiency at the rate of ¾ of 1% per month from the time the quarterly estimated tax payment was due, shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as provided in this act.

(4) If any part of the deficiency is due to negligence or intentional disregard of this act or of the authorized rules and regulations of the department, but without intent to defraud, there shall be added as a penalty 10% of the total amount of the deficiency in the tax, and interest shall be collected at the rate of 1% per month on the amount of such deficiency in the tax from the time it was due, which interest and penalty shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as provided in this act.

(5) If any part of the deficiency is due to a fraudulent intent to evade the tax, then there shall be added as a penalty 100% of the deficiency, and the whole amount of tax unpaid, together with the penalty, shall become due and payable after notice and hearing as provided in this act, and an additional 1% per month on the tax shall be added from the date the tax was due until paid.

(2) In case of failure or refusal to file any return or pay the tax required by this act, within the time prescribed by this act there shall be added as a penalty 5% of the tax if the failure is for not more than 1 month or a fraction of 1 month, with an additional 5% for each additional month or fraction thereof during which the failure continues to a maximum of 25%. In addition to the penalty, there shall be added interest, at the rate of 1% per month on the amount of the tax from the time the tax was due until the date of payment. When a return or remittance is filed after such time and it is shown to the satisfaction of the department that the failure to file was due to reasonable cause and not to wilful neglect, no such penalty shall be imposed.

206.408 Default or insufficient information; deficiency assessments.

Sec. 408. (1) If any person fails or refuses to make a return, either in whole or in part, or if the department has reason to believe that any return made does not supply sufficient information for an accurate determination of the amount of tax due, the department may obtain information on which to base an assessment of the tax. The department by its duly authorized agents may examine the books, records and papers and audit the accounts of any person or any other records pertaining to the tax. As soon as possible after procuring such information as may be found to be available, the department shall assess the tax determined to be due and shall notify the person assessed.

206.423 Collection of tax; levy and sale.

Sec. 423. (1) If the tax imposed by this act is not paid at the time required in this act, the department shall make a demand for payment thereof on the delinquent taxpayer. If the tax remains unpaid for 10 days after demand and no proceedings have been taken to review the same, the department may issue a warrant under its official seal, directed to the sheriff of any county of the state, or to any state officer authorized to serve process, commanding the officer to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of the delinquent taxpayer, without exception, found within his jurisdiction, for the payment of the amount of tax, including interest and penalties and the cost of executing the warrant. Warrant may issue immediately upon issuance of a jeopardy assessment. Thereupon, the tax shall become immediately due and payable. If the person is not in default in making any return or paying any tax prescribed by this act, and furnishes evidence satisfactory to the department under regulations prescribed by it that he will duly return and pay the tax to which the department's finding relates, then the tax shall not be payable prior to the time otherwise fixed for payment.

Actions at law.

(3) In addition to the mode of collection provided in this section, the department may institute an action at law in any county in which the taxpayer resides or transacts business.

(2) The lien imposed by subsection (1) shall take precedence over all other liens and encumbrances whatsoever, except bona fide liens recorded prior to the date the lien of this act attaches, but the lien shall not be valid as against any mortgagee, pledgee, purchaser (including a contract purchaser) or judgment creditor until notice thereof has been recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county within which the property or rights to property subject to the lien is situated. The form of the notice shall be substantially similar to the notice of lien for taxes payable to the United States referred to in Act No. 107 of the Public Acts of 1956, as amended, being sections 211.661 to 211.669 of the Compiled Laws of 1948. When notice of the lien in favor of the state is presented for recording, the register of deeds, upon receiving the same fee as is provided by law for recording real estate mortgages, shall record the notice in full and enter it in an alphabetical state tax lien index, showing on 1 line the name and last known post office address of the taxpayer named in the notice, the date and hour of presenting for recording and the amount of tax with the interest and penalties.

The form of the certificate of discharge shall be substantially similar to the certificate of discharge of lien for taxes payable to the United States of America referred to in Act No. 107 of the Public Acts of 1956, as amended. The certificate of discharge issued by the department may be recorded in the office of the register of deeds where the original notice of lien is recorded. Upon receiving the same fee as is provided by law for recording real estate mortgage discharges, the register of deeds shall record the certificate of discharge in full and index separately in the manner provided by law for recording real estate mortgage discharges.

(2) Any taxpayer who has paid a tax which he claims was not due under this act may, on or before the expiration date of 3 years from the date set for the filing of the annual or final return for such year or the date the tax was paid, whichever is later, and not after, petition the department in writing to refund the amount so paid. If the annual return reflects an overpayment or credits in excess of the tax, the declaration thereof on the return constitutes a claim for refund. If the department agrees that the taxpayer's claim is valid, the amount of overpayment, at the request of the taxpayer, shall be refunded to the taxpayer, or credited against any current or subsequent tax liability.

(3) A refund shall be certified to the state disbursing authority who shall pay the amount out of the proceeds of the tax in accordance with the accounting laws of the state.

Sec. 8 of Act 179 of 1899, above referred to, repeals Act 48 of 1899, but this is evidently an error for Act 48 of 1899 is in no way kindred in subject matter to repealing act, it being a law entitled, "An act to prohibit the taking or catching of fish in that portion of Pine River, etc." See Compilers' §§ 465.1 to 465.5, which undoubtedly are superseded by this act.

The person serving such subpoena shall receive the same compensation now allowed to sheriffs or other officers for serving subpoenas. Said board shall have power to examine witnesses under oath, said oath to be administered by any member of the board, or by the secretary thereof. companies filed in the office of any officer of this state, or in the office of any other governmental agency, and such other evidence or information as may be obtainable or possessed by said board, bearing thereon. In determining the true cash value of the property of each railroad and union station and depot company which owns, leases, operates or uses lines partly within or partly without this state, the said board shall be guided, in ascertaining the property subject to taxation in Michigan, by the proportion which the number of miles of all track controlled or used by said company as owner, lessee or otherwise, within the state of Michigan, bears to the entire mileage of all track controlled or used by said company as owner, lessee or otherwise, both within and without this state, and by any other uniform factors which reflect a fair allocation of value to this state. In determining the true cash value of the property of each telegraph company and telephone company, which owns, leases, operates or uses lines partly within and partly without this state, the said board shall be guided, in ascertaining the property subject to taxation in Michigan, by the proportion which the number of miles of telegraph or telephone lines controlled or used by said company as owner, lessee or otherwise, within the state of Michigan, bears to the entire mileage of telegraph or telephone lines controlled or used by said company as owner, lessee, or otherwise, both within and without this state, and by any other uniform factors which reflect a fair allocation of value to this state. In determining the true cash value of the property of express companies, they shall ascertain and determine the actual value in money of the entire amount of the capital stock and bonded indebtedness of such express company. From the amount so obtained and determined, said board shall deduct the actual value of all real estate owned by it as ascertained by said board, and the actual value of all its personal property as ascertained by said board, which is not used in the express business of such express company. And the remainder thus obtained shall be used in determining the assessment of such express company in the following manner: The said board shall then divide the amount as obtained above by the total number of miles, as determined by said board, of railroad, stage, water and other routes over which the company did business to obtain the value per mile, and shall then multiply the value per mile thus obtained by the total number of miles of such routes within this state, as determined by said board to which result shall be added the value of all real estate owned by such express companies in this state, as determined by said board, and the sum so obtained shall be taken and considered as the actual value of the property of such express company, subject to assessment and taxation in this state: Provided, That if in any case it shall become apparent to the said board that the ocean routes of any company are so different in character from its other routes that the mileage basis of apportionment of the value of the entire property to be apportioned in Michigan would be unfair if the full mileage of such ocean routes were included, then it may make such allowance for such ocean routes of any company as in its judgment will bring such routes upon a parity with its other routes, being guided therein by the relative mileage values and earning capacities of such ocean and other routes. For this purpose the board of assessors shall require special reports of the character, mileage, earnings and value of such ocean routes and may exclude from its aggregate mileage any ocean routes respecting which the company shall fail to furnish reports, and no further penalty shall be imposed for the failure to report the mileage of ocean routes: Provided further, That if any such company shall claim, in writing, that the mileage basis of apportionment of the value of the entire property to be attributed to Michigan is unfair, then such board shall make such apportionment as shall in its judgment be fair, being guided by the mileage within and without the state, making proper allowance for ocean mileage as above provided for. 207.14 Tax assessment; tax roll; warrant; time payable, interest; collection; lien.

Sec. 14. Said board shall tax the property of the several companies as assessed by it at the rate as determined by it, and the amount of tax to be paid by each of said companies shall be extended upon said assessment roll, opposite the description of their respective properties. After the completion of said tax roll, and prior to the twentieth day of June, in each year, the said board shall attach thereto a certificate, signed by the members of the board, or a majority thereof, which shall be as follows: "We do hereby certify that we have set down in the above assessment roll, all the property of railroad companies, express companies, union station and depot companies, telegraph and telephone companies, car loaning, stock car, refrigerator and fast freight line and other car companies, and other companies owning, leasing, running or operating cars, and sleeping car companies, liable to be taxed in this state, according to our best information, and that we have estimated the same at what we believe to be the true cash value thereof, and that we have assessed the taxes thereon at the average rate of taxes for state, county, township, school, municipal and other purposes levied through this state during the preceding year as determined by us." The said tax roll shall thereupon be forthwith delivered to the commissioner of revenue, who shall immediately notify by registered mail the several companies taxed thereon to pay the taxes extended thereon to the state treasurer. The said taxes shall be payable on the first day of July following the assessment and levy thereof, and shall be in lieu of all taxes for state and local purposes, not including special assessments on property particularly benefited, made in any county, city, village or township. All taxes not paid before the first day of August in the year in which the same are payable shall bear interest thereafter at the rate of 1% per month or any fraction thereof, except that if 1/2 of the amount of said taxes shall be paid before the first day of August, then the remainder may be paid before the first day of December following without interest, otherwise the amount of said taxes unpaid on the first day of August shall bear interest as above provided. The taxes so extended against said company shall forthwith become a debt from each of said companies to the state and shall constitute a lien upon all the property of said companies, real, personal and mixed, which lien shall take precedence of all demands, judgments, assignments by warranty deed or otherwise, or decrees against said companies, which lien and debt may be enforced by seizure, or sale of said property or such portion thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the same as hereinbefore provided. Sec. 23. Except for fuel delivered by licensed dealers into the fuel supply tanks of motor vehicles, it is unlawful for any user to use diesel motor fuel within this state, unless he is the holder of an unrevoked license issued by the department.

It is unlawful for any person to act as a dealer unless he is the holder of an unrevoked dealer license issued by the department.

To procure a license every user and dealer shall file with the department a verified application upon a form prescribed and to be furnished by the department. The application in the case of users shall contain the name under which the user registers his motor vehicle or motor vehicles and the name and address of the owner, and if a partnership or corporation the names and addresses of the several persons constituting the firm, partnership, association, joint stock company, syndicate or corporation; when incorporated, the names of its officers and directors, and if a foreign corporation, the name of its resident agent, the location of its place of business, and such other pertinent information as the department may require. Real property acquired for public purpose; proration of taxes; levy date.

Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any law, when real property is acquired for public purposes by purchase or condemnation, all general property taxes, but not penalties, levied during the 12 months immediately preceding, but not including, the day title passes to the public agency shall be prorated in accordance with this paragraph. The seller or condemnee is responsible for the portion of taxes from the levy date or dates to, but not including, the day title passes and the public agency is responsible for the remainder of such taxes. If the date that title will pass cannot be ascertained definitely and an agreement in advance to prorate taxes is desirable, an estimated date for the passage of title may be agreed to. In the absence of such agreement, the public agency shall compute the proration of taxes as of the date title passes. The question of proration of such taxes shall not be considered in any condemnation proceeding. As used in this paragraph "levy date" means the day on which taxes become due and payable. In addition to the portion of taxes for which the public agency is responsible under the provisions of this paragraph, the public agency is also responsible for all general property taxes levied on or after the date title passes and before the property is removed from the tax rolls.

Private real estate transactions, proration of taxes; levy date.

In any real estate transaction between private parties in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, the seller shall be responsible for that portion of said annual taxes levied during the 12 months immediately preceding, but not including, the day title passes, from the levy date or dates to, but not including, the day title passes and the buyer is responsible for the remainder of such annual taxes. As used in this paragraph "levy date" means the day on which any general property tax becomes due and payable.

Sec. 23a. The board of supervisors of any county may employ an independent appraisal firm to make a county-wide appraisal for the purpose of assisting local assessing officers in arriving at a true cash value for assessment purposes and of assisting the board of supervisors in reviewing and equalizing assessments. ASSESSMENT ROLL.

211.24 Property tax assessment roll; time, contents, method.

Sec. 24. On or before the first Monday in March in each year, the supervisor or assessor shall make and complete an assessment roll, upon which he shall set down the name and address of every person liable to be taxed in his township or assessment district, with a full description of all the real property therein liable to be taxed. If the name of the owner or occupant of any such tract or parcel of real property is known, he shall enter the name and address of such owner or occupant as in this act provided, opposite to the description thereof; in all other cases the real property described upon such roll shall be assessed as "owner unknown". All contiguous subdivisions of any section that are owned by 1 person, firm or corporation, and all unimproved lots in any block that are contiguous and owned by 1 person, firm or corporation shall be assessed as 1 parcel, unless demand in writing is made by the owner or occupant to have each subdivision of the section or each lot assessed separately; but failure to assess such contiguous parcels as entireties as herein provided shall not invalidate the assessment as made. Each description shall show as near as may be the number of acres contained in it, as determined by the supervisor. It shall not be necessary for the assessment roll to specify the quantity of land comprised in any town, city or village lot. The supervisor shall estimate, according to his best information and judgment, the true cash value of every parcel of real property and set the same down opposite such parcel. He shall also estimate the true cash value of all the personal property of each person, and set the same down opposite the name of such person. In determining the property to be assessed and in estimating such value, he shall not be bound to follow the statements of any person, but shall exercise his best judgment. Property assessed to one other than the owner shall be assessed separately from his property and shall show in what capacity it is assessed to him, whether as agent, guardian or otherwise. Two or more persons not being copartners, owning personal property in common, may each be assessed severally for his portion thereof. Undivided interests in lands owned by tenants in common, or joint tenants not being copartners, may be assessed to the owners thereof.

Metallic mining properties and rights, exemption, assessment, alteration, appeal.

The state geologist, or his duly authorized deputy, shall determine, according to his best information and judgment the true cash value of the metallic mining properties and mineral rights consisting of metallic resources which are either producing, developed or have a known commercial mineral value, including such surface rights and personal property as may be used in the operation or development of the property assessed, also including any stock pile of ore or mineral stored on the surface. sources, metallic mineral ore newly discovered or proven in the ground and not part of the property of an operating mine shall be exempt from the general property tax laws for a maximum period of 10 years or until such time as it becomes part of the property of an operating mine or it in itself becomes an operating mine. Metallic mineral ore hereafter discovered or proven in the ground and part of the property of an operating mine shall be exempt from taxes hereunder until it, in combination with previously discovered metallic mineral ore of the operating mine, comes into a 10 year recovery period of said mine as determined by the average normal annual rate of extraction of said mine. An operating mine shall be defined to be an operating mine as of the date of starting of a shaft or stripping of overburden, or rehabilitation or an abandoned or idle mine closed for not less than 2 years. No ore shall enjoy more than 10 years exemption from taxation. Nothing herein contained shall exempt from the general property tax laws ore reserves proven as of April 1, 1947. It is the intent of this act that mineral properties shall be valued and assessed in the future for ad valorem taxes in accordance with the formula used in the valuation of mineral properties prior to the effective date of this act. It is the intent of this act that no metallic mineral ore shall be exempt more than 10 years because of the application of this act and if at any time it becomes evident that such is the case the state tax commission shall determine the value of this untaxed ore and place this valuation on the proper tax roll. The state geologist shall report his determination of the true cash value of the mineral properties to the state tax commission on or before February 10 of each year. The state tax commission shall assess the mineral properties containing 20% or more of natural iron per ton of ore in conformity and uniformity with all other property within the assessing district except that any difference between the rate of assessment of such other property and the rate of assessment of such mineral properties for the year 1963 shall be eliminated in 3 equal adjustments in the years 1964, 1965 and 1966. The state tax commission shall assess all other metallic mineral properties at the value certified by the state geologist. The state tax commission, as early as is practicable prior to February 20 shall certify the same to the supervisor or assessing officer of the township or city in which the same is situated, who shall in the case of such mineral properties and mineral rights which are owned separate from the surface rights on such property assess the same to the owner thereof at the valuation so certified to him; except that adjustment to the value certified by the state tax commission may be made by the supervisor or assessing officer of the township or city to reflect any general adjustment or assessed valuation from the prior year not included in the state tax commission computation. The supervisor or assessing officer shall determine the true cash value of the surface rights and assess the same to the owner thereof. The assessment upon the metallic mining properties and mineral rights, as herein defined, may be altered from year to year regardless of whether any previous assessment thereof has been reviewed by the state tax commission. The supervisor or other local assessing officer or the owner of any interest in the property assessed may take an appeal from the assessment and valuation of such property as determined by the board of review to the state tax commission which shall review the same as provided in section 152 of this act.

an amount as in its judgment will produce a sum which represents the true cash value thereof, and the amount added to or deducted from the valuations in any township or city shall be entered upon the records. Notwithstanding any other provision of this act, effective December 31, 1970, the boards of commissioners and the state tax commission shall equalize real and personal property separately by adding to or deducting from the valuation of taxable real property, and by adding to or deducting from the valuation of taxable personal property in any township, city or county, such amounts as will produce a sum which represents the proportion of true cash value established by the legislature. The tax roll and the tax statement shall clearly set forth the latest state equalized valuation for each item or property which shall be determined by using a separate factor for personal property and a separate factor for real property as equalized. Equalized values for both real and personal property shall be equalized uniformly at the same proportion of true cash value in such county. It shall also cause to be entered upon its records the aggregate valuation of the taxable real and personal property of each township or city in its county as determined by it. The board shall also make such alterations in the description of any lands upon the rolls as may be necessary to render the descriptions conformable to the requirements of this act. After the rolls shall have been equalized, each shall be certified to by the chairman and clerk of the board and be delivered to the supervisor of the proper township or city, who shall file and keep the same in his office.

(2) The board of commissioners of any county shall, before December 31, 1968, establish and maintain a department to survey assessments and assist the board of commissioners in the matter of equalization of assessments, and may employ therein such technical and clerical personnel as in its judgment are deemed necessary. The personnel of the department shall be under the direct supervision and control of a director of the tax or equalization department who may designate an employee of the department as his deputy. The director of the county tax or equalization department shall be appointed by the board of commissioners. The board of commissioners may, through the department, furnish assistance to local assessing officers in the performance of any duties imposed upon such officers by this act, including the development and maintenance of accurate property descriptions, the discovery, listing and valuation of properties for tax purposes, and the development and use of uniform valuation standards and techniques for the assessment of property. Actions heretofore taken by the board of commissioners of any county in establishing a department and employing personnel for the purposes herein provided are hereby approved and ratified.

Any supervisor of any township or city or the intermediate district board of education or the board of education of an incorporated city or village aggrieved by the action of the board of commissioners, in equalizing the valuations of the several townships or cities of the county, may appeal from such determination to the state tax commission in the manner herein provided. Whenever any supervisor or any board of education desires to appeal from the determination by the board of commissioners, he or it shall within 5 days after the adoption of the equalization report, file with the clerk of the board of commissioners a written or printed petition which shall set forth in detail the reasons for taking the appeal. The petition shall be signed and sworn to by the supervisor or majority of the members of the board of education taking the appeal; shall show that a certain township, city or school district has been discriminated against in such equalization, and shall pray that the state tax commission proceed at its earliest convenience to review the action from which appeal is taken. The clerk of the board of commissioners shall forthwith serve the petition personally or by registered mail upon the state tax commission except that in the case of petitions from the boards of education the clerk shall not serve the petition upon the state tax commission until he has been specifically directed so to do by a majority vote of the board of commissioners. The state tax commission shall, upon receipt of the petition, forthwith examine same, and if in its judgment there is a showing to the effect that the equalization complained of is unfair, unjust, inequitable or discriminatory may proceed at once to make an investigation of the matters set forth in the petition. The state tax commission shall have the same authority to consider and pass upon the action and determination of the board of commissioners in equalizing said valuations as it has to consider complaints relative to the assessment and taxation of property. The state tax commission shall have the right to order the board of commissioners to reconvene and to cause the assessment rolls of the county to be brought before it, and it may summon the several supervisors of the county before it to give evidence in relation to the equalization, and may take such further action and may make such further investigation in the premises as it may deem necessary. The state tax commission shall fix a valuation on all property investigated after consultation and with the cooperation of local assessing officers. If the state tax commission shall decide that the determination and equalization made by the board of commissioners is correct, no further action shall be taken. In case the state tax commission shall determine that the equalization made by the board of commissioners is unfair, unjust, inequitable or discriminatory, the state tax commission shall notify by mail the supervisor who has appealed, as well as each member of the board of commissioners and board of education, if the board has appealed, together with notice of the time and place of hearing. At least 7 days but not more than 20 days after mailing the notice, the commission shall hold a hearing in the county. The state tax commission shall also mail a written notice of the time and place of hearing to the county clerk, who shall also notify the members of the board of commissioners and board of education if the board has appealed of the time and place of hearing. At the hearing the supervisor who has lodged the appeal and any member of the board of commissioners and of the school board if the board has instituted the appeal shall be given the opportunity to submit evidence. Within not less than 5 nor more than 20 days after the hearing, the state tax commission shall make a final determination in writing. If the state tax commission, after the hearing, decides that the valuations of the county have been improperly equalized, it shall proceed to make deductions from, or additions to, the valuations of the respective townships, cities or school districts as may be deemed proper, and in so doing the commission shall have the same powers as the board of commissioners had in the first instance. The state tax commission forthwith, after completing its revision of the equalization of the valuation of the several assessment districts, shall report its action to the board of commissioners and board of education if the board has instituted the appeal by filing its report with the clerk of the board of commissioners. The action of the state tax commission in the premises shall be final and binding and shall constitute the equalization of the county for the tax year.

Unless sooner redeemed, upon the expiration of such period of redemption provided for in section 74 of this act, absolute title to the lands so sold and bid in to the state shall vest in the state of Michigan as provided in said decree. If costs are adjudged against any person contesting a tax, the decree therefor shall be in proper form and execution awarded. The decree shall be signed by the judge and countersigned by the clerk. named, make a final decree as to all taxes to which no objections have been filed, and also those to which objections have been filed, which the court has then heard and passed upon. Such decrees shall be signed and recorded as hereinbefore provided. The court shall proceed with the consideration of the remaining taxes embraced in such petition, and objections thereto, and as soon as practicable dispose of the same by 1 or more decrees and in such form as the court may determine, which shall be entered in the chancery record of decrees of such court, and the same shall describe the lands and specify the total amount of taxes, interest and charges on each parcel thereof. The county clerk shall immediately thereafter deliver to the county treasurer a certified copy of such decree, to be kept and used as hereinbefore provided. Such copy of decree shall be annexed to the tax record and shall thereby become a part thereof. If from any cause no decree shall be made on such petition as to the taxes therein named, or any part thereof, the auditor general shall, as soon as practicable, file a new petition for decree and sale, and proceedings thereon shall be the same and a decree and sale made as herein provided.

In case a decree is given in favor of the validity of any disputed tax, and the person contesting its validity desires to appeal to the supreme court, he shall be allowed to do so on paying the amount of the decree to the county treasurer, within 10 days after the date of such decree, who shall retain the same until the decision of the supreme court, and pay the same to the party interested, if such tax is held invalid; if held valid, then such money shall be credited to the proper fund. By such payment the land in question shall be discharged from the lien of the tax. In case the decision is against the validity of any tax, either the county treasurer or the auditor general shall have a right to direct an appeal therefrom to the supreme court on behalf of the state, but there shall be no sale for the tax held invalid, until such decision has been reversed or modified by the supreme court.

The proceedings where the validity of any tax is in dispute shall, where no other provision is made herein, follow the ordinary chancery practice, and the court may allow amendments as in ordinary cases. Notice shall be given of all appeals to the supreme court, and such appeal shall be claimed, entered and bond for costs given, within 20 days after the making and entering of the decree. Any party appealing from such decree, except the auditor general and any political subdivision of the state, shall file a bond for costs in the usual form, the amount thereof and sureties thereon to be approved by the court which entered the decree. The judge shall, at the request of either party and on due notice, settle in proper form a case containing so much of the record and proceedings as may be necessary to the due understanding thereof by the supreme court, and if appeal shall be taken, such case shall be transmitted to such court. An appeal as to the tax on any parcel shall not delay or affect the proceedings for the sale of any land on which there has been no appeal.

In case the court in its decree shall determine an assessment to be void because of an erroneous or indefinite description of the parcel of land, the court shall, in such decree, direct the auditor general to reject such tax and cause the same to be reassessed on a correct description of the parcel of land. Such decree shall also set forth the correct description of such land.

SALE BY COUNTY TREASURER.

211.70 Sale; payment of bid; cancellation and forfeiture for failure to make; reoffer, state bid; report and confirmation of sale; setting aside; report to auditor general.

Sec. 70. On the first Tuesday of May, beginning at 10 o'clock a.m., the county treasurer shall commence the sale of the lands mentioned in the decree upon which the amounts charged shall not have been paid, and shall continue the same from day to day, Sundays and other legal holidays excepted, until so much of each parcel shall be sold as shall be sufficient to pay such amounts: Provided, That the county treasurer may deputize 1 or more persons in his office to conduct such sale for him and in his behalf. Such appointments shall be filed by the county treasurer with the county clerk in the court proceedings relating to the tax sale. Each parcel described in the decree shall be separately exposed to sale for the total taxes, interest and charges, and the sale shall be made to the person paying the full amount charged against such parcel, and accepting a conveyance of the smallest undivided fee simple interest therein. No greater interest in any parcel shall be sold than is sufficient to pay the amount of the tax on which the same is sold. If no person will pay the several taxes and charges and take a conveyance of less than the entire thereof, then the whole parcel shall be offered and sold. The sale shall be at the county seat, at the office of or at such convenient place as shall be selected by the county treasurer, and shall be subject to the taxes assessed subsequent to taxes included in the decree and for the year for which the sale is made. The county treasurer may, in his discretion, require immediate payment of any person to whom any parcel of such land may be struck off, and in all cases where payment is not made in 24 hours after sale, he shall declare the bid cancelled and sell the land again; and any person to whom any parcel of land shall be so struck off neglecting for 24 hours after the close of such sale to pay to the county treasurer the amount of such bid, shall forfeit to the state 5 times the amount of such bid, and costs of suit therefor, which amount may be recovered in the name of the people of the state of Michigan in an action of debt, in any court of competent jurisdiction, and it shall be the duty of the county treasurer and prosecuting attorney of the county to prosecute for all such delinquencies and penalties without unnecessary delay. subsequent bid of such person made at the sale may be disregarded by the treasurer. If any parcel of land cannot be sold for taxes, interest and charges, such parcel shall be passed over for the time being, and shall, on the succeeding day, or before the close of the sale be reoffered; and if, on such second offer, or during such sale, the same cannot be sold for the amount aforesaid, the county treasurer or his deputy or deputies shall bid off the same in the name of the state for the state, county and township, in proportion to the taxes, interest and charges due each. And in such case the taxes assessed on the lands so bid off to the state, and the interest and charges thereon, shall remain a lien upon said lands, and any person or persons may thereafter purchase such lands of the state, as provided in this act. The county treasurer shall enter or cause to be entered in the proper columns of the tax record the interest in lands sold, the name and post-office address of each purchaser opposite each parcel of land sold, and the word "state" opposite each parcel bid off in the name of the state. Certificates shall be given to each purchaser of the lands and interest bid off by him, showing the year's tax for which he has purchased, and also the amount thereof, and of all charges paid by him at the time of such purchase, stating that he will be entitled to a deed after the period of redemption provided for in section 74 has expired, and that if the sale is not confirmed the money will be returned. As soon as possible after the conclusion of any sale, and within 25 days after the day named in the notice for the commencement thereof, the county treasurer shall make and file with the clerk of the court a report of such sale, therein referring to the tax record for the particulars thereof: Provided, however, That the court may upon petition by the county treasurer extend the time within which said report shall be required to be filed not to exceed 50 days from the date of the commencement of the sale. All sales shall stand confirmed, subject to the right of redemption provided for in section 74, unless objections thereto are filed within 8 days after the time limited for filing such report, without the entry of an order or further notice. The practice with reference to setting aside such sale shall be the same, so far as applicable, as in a sale in equity on the foreclosure of mortgages: Provided, No sale shall be set aside for inadequacy of price, except upon payment of the amount bid upon such sale, with interest and costs: Provided further, That no sale shall be set aside after confirmation, except in cases where the taxes were paid, or the property was exempt from taxation. In such cases the owner of such lands may move the court at any time within 1 year after he shall have notice of such sale to set the same aside, and the court may so order upon such terms as may be just. As soon as practicable after sales are confirmed and within 30 days from the date of confirmation, the county treasurer shall make full report of the same to the auditor general, in such form as the auditor general shall prescribe, giving a description of the property sold, the amounts for which the same was sold, and the names and addresses of the purchasers, and thereupon the auditor general shall, after the period of redemption provided in section 74 has expired, execute deeds to the purchasers in such form as shall be determined by him. All lands bid off in the name of the state shall continue liable to be taxed in the same manner as if they were not the property of the state, except as hereinafter provided. If from any cause the lands, or any parcel thereof decreed for sale by the auditor general, shall not be sold as advertised, it shall be the duty of the auditor general to cause sale to be made at such other time as he may fix for that purpose, of which notice shall be published at least 4 weeks prior to such day, and such notice shall contain a description of the lands and the amount claimed thereon, as hereinbefore provided in the first instance. The sale and all proceedings thereon shall be the same as if made on the first day fixed therefor. The several county treasurers shall receive on such sale only such funds as shall be receivable at the state treasury, and all moneys received at any tax sales that belong to the state shall be paid into the state treasury, and the expenses of advertising and sale exclusive of the county's share shall

Sec. 73a. The right to recover possession of any land, or to a refunding of the amount paid, or to secure a tax deed, by any person claiming through or under any deed executed by the auditor general or by any officer authorized to issue tax deeds under the provisions of any former tax law of the territory of the state of Michigan or by virtue of a certificate of purchase issued under the provisions of this act or by the provisions of any such former tax law, shall be forever barred by the actual, open and continuous possession of any person claiming such land adversely to such tax deed, or certificate of purchase, for the period of 5 years after the purchaser of such tax title, his heirs or assigns, is entitled to a deed thereof, or by failure of such tax title purchaser, his heirs or assigns, to make a bona fide attempt to give the notice or notices required by this act, or by the provisions of any such former tax law, for a reconveyance of the premises within the above specified period of 5 years. In case of such failure to give the required notice for reconveyance within the period of 5 years from the date such purchaser, his heirs or assigns shall become entitled to a tax deed to be issued by the auditor general, the person or persons, claiming title under tax deed or certificate of purchase shall be forever barred from asserting such title or claiming a lien on the land by reason of such tax purchase; and such purchaser, his heirs or assigns shall not thereafter be entitled to a refunding of the amount paid as a condition of the purchase of such tax title by reason of any defect, irregularity, invalidity, or any cause whatever affecting the taxes or the sale of the lands for such tax lien. The failure of such tax title purchaser, his heirs or assigns, to present such certificate of purchase or due proof of loss thereof to the auditor general or his deputy, as prescribed in section 72 of this act, or to the officer empowered by any former law to issue tax deeds, within the above specified period of 5 years, shall forever bar such tax title purchaser, his heirs or assigns from securing a tax deed. In the case of failure to present such certificate of purchase to the auditor general or his deputy or to such officer empowered by any former tax law to issue tax deeds, any person owning any interest in the lands so sold for taxes, upon the payment of 50 cents to the auditor general or his deputy, shall be entitled to a certificate of cancellation under the hand and seal of the auditor general or his deputy, setting forth a description of such certificate of purchase and that, according to the records of the auditor general, no tax deed has been issued for such certificate of purchase, and that the time for presentation of such certificate of purchase or due proof of loss thereof has expired, and neither such certificate of purchase nor due proof of loss thereof was presented within the time so limited. Such certificate of cancellation may be received and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the lands affected are situated, and when recorded shall be prima facie evidence of the facts so certified, and shall have the same effect as evidence and notice of title as the recording of deeds and other conveyances, and such register of deeds shall be entitled, for the recording of such certificate of cancellation, to the same fees as for recording of deeds.

Sec. 131a. When the title to any lands shall be vested in the state by virtue of any tax sale, if the state treasurer discovers before a contract or deed of the land is executed and delivered, and before such lands have been developed, improved, dedicated for public use, or otherwise disposed of or encumbered by the department of conservation that the land was not delinquent for the taxes of 1 or more of the years for which the same was sold or that the taxes of any 1 or more of the years should have been rejected for any of the reasons set forth in section 98, or that the taxes of 1 or more years subsequent to the year or years for which the state acquired title have been paid to any county, township, city or village treasurer prior to the date title vested in the state, the state treasurer upon certification by the county treasurer of payment of the amount due on the land as delinquent taxes, together with interest and penalties to date, shall so certify to the department of conservation, which is authorized to convey the land described in such certificate to the owner thereof. All moneys received by the county treasurer as herein provided shall be by him deposited in the undistributed tax fund of the county and distributed by the county treasurer to the credit of the state, county and township, wherein the lands are situated in proportion to the amount due the state, county and township upon the lands so conveyed by the department of conservation.

Such deed shall operate to revive all titles, liens and encumbrances, with their respective priorities, as the same would have existed had not the title become vested in the state, subject to the lien of the grantee therein named as hereinabove set forth.

Mining property; conveyance, reservation.

When the title to mining property shall be vested in the state, if the department of conservation shall discover that the mining company has leased part of the property, and such lease was in effect in the year the taxes for which the state acquired title were assessed, and the property is still occupied by the lessee, the department of conservation is hereby authorized and empowered to convey to the lessee occupying the land, but reserving the mineral rights to the state. The purchaser shall furnish the department of conservation a correct legal description of the property applied for, and shall pay to the county treasurer a sum equal to 25% of the assessed valuation as fixed and determined by the local assessing officer, which sum shall be distributed to the local taxing units in proportion to the delinquent taxes assessed against each descrip-

Sec. 131c. Any municipality may at any time prior to the first Tuesday in November following the vesting of title in the state of Michigan, withhold from sale any lands lying within its boundaries by filing with the department of conservation an application for such withholding, which application shall accurately describe such lands by their legal descriptions according to the records of the auditor general or the department of conservation. Such withholding shall only be effective until the first Tuesday in November of the year following the date of withholding and shall not affect the right of the state to take possession of such lands and manage and rent the same during the period they are withheld. Any of the lands so withheld may be redeemed for the benefit of the former owner by the payment of all amounts due on said lands as delinquent taxes and special assessments, which had been assessed or were a lien at the time title vested in the state, together with interest and penalties thereon, interest to be computed to the date of the application to redeem and in accordance with the provisions of the general tax laws or the charter of a municipality collecting its own delinquent taxes and assessments for tax and assessment liens of such municipality. After such redemption has been effected, the auditor general shall so certify to the department of conservation, which is hereby authorized and empowered to convey the land described in such certificate to the owner thereof. Any municipality collecting its own delinquent taxes and assessments may redeem said lands as owner as herein provided in the event that said municipality, either prior to or during the withholding period, has acquired title to said property by foreclosure of its tax or assessment liens or otherwise, and in which foreclosure proceeding the state need not be named as a party. After such redemption has been effected, the auditor general shall so certify to the department of conservation, which is hereby authorized and empowered to convey the land described in such certificate to such municipality. In the event lands included in said application are not redeemed, such lands shall be administered by the department of conservation as provided in section 6 of Act No. 155 of the Public Acts of 1937, as amended, being section 211.356 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, the same as though said application had not been made and if sold the proceeds of such sale paid pro rata to such municipality as provided in section 131 of this act.

No redemption deed issued under the provisions of this section shall be construed to vest in the grantee therein named any title or interest in such lands beyond that which he would have owned, had not title become vested in the state, but such grantee shall be entitled to a lien on such lands, or on such parts thereof or interests therein as were not owned by him, for the amount paid upon such redemption or such portion thereof as may be lawfully charged to such parts or interests, in addition to the lien or other interests before held by such grantee; which lien may be enforced in any court of competent jurisdiction as in other cases of liens upon lands, with interest thereon at 6 per cent per annum from the date of such payment. By such payment the tax title and any and all such certificates of sale shall become void and of no effect against the lands to be redeemed. The register in chancery shall, whenever payment is made to him as provided in this section, at once notify the owner of the tax title, or of any and all such certificates of sale, of the payment so made, and the owner of the tax title, or of any such certificates of sale, shall forthwith deliver to said register a release and quit claim of all rights acquired by him under said tax purchase, running to the person making such payment, and shall also deliver to said register the tax deed, certificates of purchase, tax receipts, and all other conveyances relating to said tax title or tax interest before he shall be entitled to receive the money paid to said register as herein provided. Upon delivery of such release and quit claim, and of such certificates of purchase and tax receipts the register in chancery shall at once pay over to the owner of the tax title all sums received by him for the redemption of the lands therein described: Provided further, That no quit claim or reconveyance made under the provisions of this section shall be construed to vest in the grantee any title or interest in such lands beyond that already owned by him, but such grantee shall be entitled to a lien on such lands, or on such parts thereof or interests therein as are not owned by him, for the amount paid, or such portion thereof as is lawfully chargeable to such parts or interests, in addition to the lien or other interest before held by such grantee; which lien may be enforced in any court of competent jurisdiction as in other cases of liens upon lands, with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per centum per annum from the date of such payment. The circuit courts in chancery shall have jurisdiction to enforce the liens herein provided for without regard to the amount of such liens: Provided further, That any such application for a writ of assistance shall show that such applicant had complied with the provisions of this act as to the giving of notice, as herein directed, and he shall attach to such application a copy of the notice aforesaid, and the return of the sheriff serving the same, or a copy of the proof of publication, or the registry receipt or receipts from the registry department of the postoffice showing that such notice has been served by registered mail.

Any increase or decrease of the assessment by such action shall also increase or decrease the state equalized value of the local unit wherein the property is located by the amount that such property's state equalized value has been altered. 211.211 County tax allocation board; powers and duties in establishing tax rates.

Sec. 11. (a) The board shall examine the budgets and statements of local units which have been filed with it, and shall determine the tax rates exclusive of debt service tax rates which would be required according to its proposed budget. The board may request additional statements and examine financial records to verify the tax rate request of a local unit.

(b) If the board shall find that the total of all such tax rates which would be required to be levied on property located within the area of any local unit does not exceed the net limitation tax rate, it shall approve such tax rates as maximum tax rates, except such tax rates as may be required to be determined under the following subsections.

(c) If the board shall find that the total of all such tax rates which would be required to be levied on property located within the area of any local unit exceeds the net limitation tax rate it shall proceed according to the 3 following subsections.

(d) The board shall approve minimum tax rates as follows: For the county, 3 mills; for school districts, 4 mills; for community college districts organized after April 15, 1957, 1/1000 of 1 mill; for intermediate school districts, 1/10 of 1 mill; for townships other than charter townships, 1 mill. If the community college district has voted to increase the total tax limitation as provided in section 6 of article 9 of the state constitution, the board during the period the increase is in effect shall not allocate the 1/1000 of 1 mill minimum tax rate to the community college district, but the community college district shall raise all of its tax revenues from the amount of increase so voted. No local unit shall be allowed a tax rate in excess of what would be required according to its proposed budget.

(e) The board shall divide the balance of the net limitation tax rate between all local units after due consideration of the needs of the several local units, the importance to the public of functions of local units which might have to be curtailed, the need of local units for construction or repair of public works, the proposed or accomplished transfer of functions from 1 local unit to others, and any other facts or matters concerning the operations of local units which the board may deem relevant. A local unit shall not be allowed a tax rate in excess of what would be required according to its proposed budget. The board shall approve a maximum tax rate for each local unit consisting of the minimum tax rate, if any, provided in subsection (d), added to the tax rate determined under this subsection.

(f) The board shall approve a maximum tax rate for each local unit which has voted to increase the total tax rate limitation as provided in the last sentence of the first paragraph of section 6 of article 9 of the state constitution, and as provided for in this act, which tax rate, with other maximum tax rates which may be levied within the area of such local unit, shall not exceed the limitation voted. In approving a maximum tax rate for the various local units, the board shall not take into consideration any increase of the tax rate limitation voted by any local unit.

(g) The board shall not approve a tax rate for any local unit which has not submitted a budget or statements as required.

(h) The approval by the board of a maximum tax rate for any local unit, which will necessitate a reduction in the total proposed expenditures as listed in the budget of such local unit, shall not be construed as a reduction or elimination of any specific items in such list of proposed expenditures, and the board shall not have the power to reduce or eliminate any such specific items. Any local unit in the budget of which a reduction in the total proposed expenditure is necessitated by the action of the board, or the state tax commission in case of appeal, shall have power to revise its budget and amend and alter its tax levy to the extent made necessary by such action, any law or sions of the general tax law insofar as the publication of the petition and order and the sale of lands delinquent for taxes of 1935 and prior years are concerned, to provide when such returned delinquent taxes and special assessments shall be due; to provide for the payment of such returned taxes prior to and after the specified time of payment, to require notice of such returned delinquent taxes and special assessments in contracts, deeds or other conveyances, and of the publication of notice each year of the collection of such returned delinquent taxes and special assessments; to make it an offense for violating the provisions of this act, to prescribe the penalties therefor, and to repeal and/or suspend all acts and parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act. Am. 1934, 1st Ex. Ses., p. 81, Act 11, Imd. Eff. Mar. 19.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

211.301 Declaration of emergency as to delinquent taxes.

Sec. 1. The governor of this state has declared that a public emergency exists in the banking business. The legislature has declared that such emergency exists. The legislature has also declared that an emergency exists in the matter of loan values and cash surrender values of insurance policies. Any one of these emergencies directly affects the ability of citizens to pay taxes, both current and delinquent. In the year 1931 nearly 1/2 of the acreage assessed for taxes in this state was returned tax delinquent. The sale of lands for delinquent taxes has been cancelled for the year 1933 by an act of the legislature. Penalties and interest on delinquent taxes have been cancelled for a limited time. Many people are unable to pay their current or delinquent taxes. The safety and security of property and home ownership in this state is in grave danger, unless relief is granted by the legislature to citizens whose property is tax delinquent. The legislature acting in the exercise of the police power of the state declares that an emergency exists in the matter of tax delinquency and that legislation being necessary to meet such an emergency, does hereby enact the following:

In the preparation of said "returned delinquent tax roll" the tax shall be spread in separate columns in a manner to correspond with the original levy of said taxes and special assessments, but without the addition of collection fees, interest or penalties: Provided, That any taxes, including special assessments, that had heretofore been cancelled and/or rejected and charged back to the counties by the auditor general for the year 1932 and/or prior years, and correctly reassessed in the year 1932 and/or 1933: Provided, That any taxes, including "special" assessments, that have heretofore been cancelled and charged back to the counties by the auditor general for the year 1931 and prior years and correctly reassessed in 1933 shall be included in such "returned delinquent tax roll" or in a supplemental "returned delinquent tax roll" to the several county treasurers, subject to all of the provisions of this act: Provided, further, That any taxes, including "special" assessments that are cancelled by the auditor general for the year 1932 and prior years and included in the charge back list of June 30, 1934, shall be forwarded by the auditor general to the county treasurer for filing in his office. When such corrections are made, the county treasurer shall prepare in duplicate a list of the descriptions so corrected with the items of tax as originally assessed, and attach 1 copy of said corrected roll to the "returned delinquent roll" provided by the auditor general, and forward a copy of said corrected list to the auditor general to be attached to the list on file in his office. When so corrected said "supplemental roll" shall be a valid assessment of the taxes upon the several parcels described therein, subject to all the provisions of this act. The cost of preparing such "supplemental rolls" and the services of the supervisors and assessing officers shall be paid out of the general fund of the county, when such cost shall have been audited and approved by the board of county auditors in counties having such board, and in all other counties by the ways and means or finance committee of the board of supervisors.

If any installment so returned shall not be paid in the current year before the first day of September, the auditor general shall during the following May offer the lands for sale for all unpaid installments due or to become due hereunder in accordance with the provisions of the general tax laws of the state applicable to delinquent taxes: Provided, That the auditor general may, as to said sale, delegate to the county treasurer of any county any of the duties now required of the auditor general by the provisions of the general tax laws of the state applicable to delinquent taxes; and in case such duties are so delegated in any county, the cost incurred by the county in the performance of such duties shall be paid to the county from the funds of the auditor general appropriated for such purposes, which sum shall not exceed the cost which would have been incurred by the state had the auditor general performed said duties. Sec. 8g. Any lands or portions thereof, and any interest therein, held by the state and the board or department of conservation, as the case may be, under the provisions of this act, and not actually used or retained by the state or said board or department for a public use, shall be subject to condemnation for a public purpose by any state agency, municipality or public corporation and may be acquired under the provisions of any of the statutes of this state or any charter provisions of any municipality authorizing such state agencies, municipalities or public corporations to take private property for public use. If such lands or interest therein, held by the state and the board or department, have been sold on land contract under the provisions of this act, the state and the board or department, and the contract purchasers and anyone holding any interest by or through them, shall be joined as parties respondent and the interest of each shall be designated in the petition whenever condemnation proceedings are instituted to acquire such lands under the authority granted in this section. If such lands have not as yet been offered for sale as provided for in this act, then the state and the board or department, as the case may be, shall be joined as owners in fee, and the former owners and the former holders of any other interest therein shall be joined, naming their former interest.

If the lands have been sold on land contract, the award for the taking thereof shall be payable first to the state and the board or department up to the amount of the unpaid balance on said contract, plus interest, and the remainder of said award, if any, shall be payable to the contract purchasers and/or others holding any interest by or through them as their interests may appear. If such lands have not yet been offered for sale as provided for in this act, any award for the taking thereof shall be payable first to the state and the board or department up to the total amount necessary to pay all delinquent taxes, and special assessments which had been assessed or were a lien at the time title vested in the state together with interest and penalties and maintenance costs, as authorized by section 4 of this act, thereon, and the balance of said award, if any, shall be payable to the former owners and the former holders of any other interest therein as their interests may appear. In case such state agency, municipality or public corporation has acquired, under the provisions of this act, less than the whole description held by the state and the board or department, the amount required to pay such taxes and/or special assessments shall be calculated as provided in section 53 of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended: Provided, however, That if the former owner of any lands under the jurisdiction of the department of conservation, part or all of which are taken by condemnation as herein provided, fails to make application to purchase such lands within 90 days from the time title to such lands vested in the state as provided in this act, then the entire award shall be paid to the state. Whenever the remainder of any parcel of land, a portion of which has been condemned and an award for the taking thereof paid to the state and the board or department, is offered for sale under the provisions of this act, the minimum bid for such remainder at such sale shall be 25 per cent of a valuation determined by the assessing officer, as provided for by section 53 of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended.

Years of no production shall be excluded in computing such average production but only until the property has a 5-year record of commercial production. The township supervisor shall remove from the list of land descriptions assessed and taxed under the general property tax law the land descriptions of property taxed under the provisions of this act, and shall enter such land descriptions on a separate roll. The supervisor shall spread the specific tax against the lands and the township treasurer shall collect the specific tax at the same time, in the same manner and subject to the same collection charges as general property taxes. Lands listed and taxed under the provisions of this act shall be subject to return and sale for nonpayment of taxes in the same manner, at the same time and under the same penalties as lands returned and sold for nonpayment of taxes levied under the general property tax laws. No valuation shall be determined for descriptions listed under this act and such lands shall not be considered by the county board of supervisors or by the state board of equalization in connection with county or state equalization for taxation purposes.
